By County Extension Agents

Junior Leader Meeting

The junior leaders met last week for a short business meeting immediately following their skating party in Ontario. One topic discussed which we thought should be mentioned here, is the possible change of meeting dates from the third Thursday night of each month to the second Monday night. This was discussed thoroughly and the group felt the executive committee of the organization should be contacted for the final decision.

Three Junior leaders from Adrian were in charge of the junior leader radio program this month. Clifford Looney interviewed two members of the livestock club in this community. Linda Costley talked with two members of a cooking club and Shirley Skinner worked with the two clothing club members. These boys and girls hoped that this program would give the people listening a clear picture of the club work in their community.

Demonstration Days

Some 4-H club members and leaders met in the Nyssa and Adrian communities this last Saturday to discuss contests available to enter during the home economics show in June. Demonstrations were the major topic for discussion and some of the girls gave the demonstrations which they plan to enter in competition during the show. The majority came to watch and get ideas. Those who gave demonstrations were Sylvia Cleaver and Marsha Savage from Nyssa, Dea Nickelson and Wanda Peutz from Owyhee.

These demonstrations looked good, and it looks as if competition will be plenty keen during Spring Show.

Meetings similar to the one mentioned above will be held in Vale and Ontario this Saturday. All 4-H leaders will receive a letter giving the time and place.

Attention 4-H Club Leaders

If any of you would like help with 4-H club records, we have some actual club member records in the office that you might like to borrow and use as examples. Either Mr. Hauser or Miss Johnston would be happy to come to a meeting also and work with you and your club members on records, if you would request this.

How Standard uses earnings to back its faith in the future

The U. S. will need as much oil in the next 15 years as it produced in the past century. To locate new sources of oil and develop known fields, we invested $280,915,466 last year... drilled 968 new wells, of which 176 were dry holes.

To help transport more oil and finished products in the future Standard has placed orders for $148,368,510 worth of new facilities, including 10 supertankers, greater pipeline capacity and additions to our fleet of trucks and trailers.

Research helps create new products... and new jobs. During 1957 we had 1400 full-time employees in research and technical services alone. As a result of continuing research we now make more than 1,000 products that were not marketed 15 years ago.

While most of Standard's income went back into the business, our 148,315 stockholders received about 4¢ for each dollar of stock investment at market value. Dividends encourage future investments, helping all business to expand and improve service.

Again last year Standard was one of the West's largest customers. Our purchases included 50,000 items... helped provide employment and payrolls for more than 10,000 large and small business firms in hundreds of Western communities.

Through affiliates we also helped advance progress in more than 70 friendly Eastern Hemisphere countries. Oil development helps local business, provides employment and supplies funds for education, health and housing.
