Conservation Week Being Observed Throughout State, Malheur County

Next week, May 11 through 18, is Conservation week, according to John Long, who is assisting County Chairman Jack Koch, Ontario, in arranging for observance of the occasion.

Available to speak at any gathering, including student meetings, are Cecil R. Langdon, game commission; Robert V. Pierce, board of agriculture; E. N. Hoffman, Malheur experiment station; Gene Kunkle and V. E. Nygren, department of agriculture, all of Ontario, and Billie J. Cox, Vale, of the Warm Springs Irrigation district.

Long said he is arranging for meetings in the Nyssa and Adrian communities, particularly with school groups, such as vocational agriculture classes.

Phases to be covered in observance of the special week include soil conservation districts, windbreaks, soil and water conservation, soil sampling, conservation on the range, farm ponds, conservation in irrigation and land drainage.

Posters are being displayed throughout the county and numerous pamphlets on all phases of conservation are being made available.

Another phase of conservation is the wildlife resource, such as fish and game, which are closely related to soil, drainage, forests and all other facets of the natural resources which must be protected, it was pointed out.
