PURINA RESEARCH TESTS SHOW

AN EXTRA $10-$15 PER HEAD RETURN

...when Steer Fatena with stilbestrol is fed

During recent years, tests on hundreds of cattle at Purina's Research Farm proved stilbestrol, Micro-Mixed just right into Purina Steer Fatena, is a money-maker for the cattle feeder. Here are the average results from all their tests when Purina Steer Fatena with stilbestrol was fed:

	Control lots	Stilbestrol-fed lots
Average daily gain	2.37 lbs.	2.65 lbs.
Average dressing percent . .	61 1/2%	62%

Tests also prove that stilbestrol is not a food nutrient . . . is no substitute for a good ration. Results are disappointing when stilbestrol is fed with rations of poor balance or quality.

When you empty a bag of supplement in your feed bunks, you are counting on getting your money back—and more besides—in increased daily gains at lowered costs. But before you lay down your hard cash for a supplement, it pays to know the facts about the feed you choose.

Ron's a senior this year, but the Bulldogs will be depending on him for the rest of the season.

KEEP YOUR CATTLE SPRAYED FOR EXTRA BEEF NEXT FALL

There's no argument that cattle do better when flies are kept away. And folks who've used Purina Range Cattle Spray tell us it can't be beat for this job. They like the way it mixes with water for spraying (one gallon makes 100 gallons of spray) and with oil for use in back-rubber devices (1 pint to 1 gallon of oil).

This powerful toxaphene-lindane combination knocks horn flies for 4 to 6 weeks. Controls ticks, too. And best of all, Purina Range Cattle Spray does the job for only 2 1/2 cents per head.

Come in and see us soon for your summer Fly Spray needs.
