Scholarships Announced

4-H club members with livestock breeding projects will have an opportunity to win a scholarship to the 4-H summer school at Oregon State college next June.

Contestants are rated on their project work, record books, participation in 4-H activities and their scholastic records. A winner and an alternate are selected from the list of applicants by the scholarship committee of the Malheur 4-H leaders council.

4-H members in Malheur county wanting to try for this award are being asked to send their records in to the county agent's office by Jan. 29. Records needed are their folder containing their permanent record and project records on their breeding animals.

Any 4-H club member over 12 years of age who has been carrying a livestock breeding project is eligible to compete.

Special awards for the top contestants in the dollar dinner and the food demonstration contests are also provided.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

By County Extension Agents

Clubs Organized

Beef, chickens, garden, dairy, swine and sheep are the varied projects that members of the Cairo Livestock club are taking. The 21 members of the club are starting their second year under the leadership of Jack Sather, route 1, Ontario.

Assisting Sather as junior leaders are Janice Gant and Walt Sather. Directing and planning the club's business are Hugh Fraser, president; Bruce Hunter, vice president; and Penny Curtis, secretary. Leading the club's songs is Tony Gonzolas and Brent Ross reports the club news.

Mrs. Hazel Lane's fifth grade class in Nyssa has organized a health club. Officers for the 23 members are Neal Bohannon, Susan Schenk, Orville Anderson, Linda Flake and Wayne Overstake.

The Nyssa fourth grade "Busy Healthy Helpers" club has been formed under the leadership of Mrs. Schenk. Presiding at their meetings will be Royce Zobell, president, and Marjory Hipp, vice president. Other officers are Becky Parks, Susan Douglas and Tom Stringer.

The "Paint Dobbars" home living club led by Mrs. Stanley Hill, route 2, Nyssa, has reorganized. Assisting Mrs. Hill as junior leaders are Pauline Stephen and Nancy Hill.

The eight members of the club will study color combinations, furniture arrangement and general room decoration and improvement. Many of the members will take a room of their home and completely redecorate it according to the principles they learn during the year. Others will improve their rooms by making new curtains or lamp shades and perhaps adding articles that will make the room more appealing and convenient.
