From This Corner...

By T.M.B.

With the exception of the filling stations and cafes, Nyssa just about closed shop from Friday night to this Monday morn, and about everyone I've seen is having trouble getting back into the harness.

Many attended the rodeo at Vale or Caldwell—some went to see the fireworks at Caldwell the night of the 4th, and many others spent the weekend camping or fishing on many of the numerous lakes and mountain streams nearby. Some few of us stayed close to home and enjoyed the quiet and rest. And it was the quietest 4th of July I've ever seen.

Oregon has a very strict law governing fireworks and I heard only a few real small ones fired during the period. This is very good and keeps many children from being injured each year. I read of two small children in Kalispell, Mont., being killed when a fireworks stand exploded. Their parents had left them to tend it.

But in most cases the injuries would be much less severe. Maybe just powder burns. My brother still carries some from the explosion of a home-made cannon. But another boy lost an eye. We are very careful of these things any more. We do turn children loose with powerful automobiles without proper training and before they are really mature enough to have good judgment.

A short time ago County Judge Chester said no one had ever escaped the county jail in Vale. This past week two escaped. Oh well, there's a first time for all things! Maybe the new one will keep the record intact as long as the old one did.

Judge: "Why did you break into the store four nights running?"
 Defendant: "I got a new dress for my wife and she made me go back and change it three times."

It's rodeo time this weekend in Nyssa and whatever success it has will be due to the efforts of a very few people. And we suspect the same will be true of the celebration planned for the arrival of the Wagon Train. We are still just "itching" for publicity on it. We hope someone is still "scratching" up something for us.

This is the first town I've ever seen where there was a waiting

Adrian Community Church Notes

On Wednesday night, July 8, at 8 p.m. the Rev. Wallace Jamison and Dr. Paul Jamison from the mission field in Egypt were at our church. Since Thursday would be the regular Women's association meeting, the two meetings were combined Wednesday. The Rev. Wallace Jamison worked here one summer before the local church was organized.

A change of time has been made for the Mariners' meeting. The meeting will be a picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Long after the morning worship service Sunday, July 12. Mariners are asked to bring a picnic lunch and own table service.

Synod of Idaho United Presbyterian Leadership school at the College of Idaho will be held the week of July 12 to 18.

Sunday School Reorganized

The LDS second ward Sunday school was reorganized recently. The new officers are Grant Peterson, superintendent; Dean Blaylock, first assistant and Owen Froerer, F. Parley Feik, Melvin Jensen and Elwood Flinders were released after five years in the Sunday school.

list for members of the fire department. I want to learn what they have to offer that makes it so attractive, who planned it, and how they keep up "steam" so long. Then I'll pass the secret on to the people who should be working on the other things here in town.

Was over in the Emmett community recently and saw their beautiful cherry orchards at the foot of the barren hills just above all the greenery of the valley. It was real nice. But they have something over there I can't understand. Going toward the dam there is a cemetery on the left and on the entrance post is a sign saying, "POSITIVELY NO DIGGING OR PLANTING IN HERE."

Has there ever been any agitation for a swimming pool for Nyssa? Our young people—over 100 daily average—did attend the pool at Ontario but it became so crowded that we wore out our welcome over there and now we are preparing to go across the river into Idaho to the neighboring town of Parma. We congratulate the town on their new pool and think it is real nice of them to let us use it. But couldn't we make plans for one at home? The Civic club has been very active in the parks and playground activities. Couldn't we encourage them to take the lead?

Our last week's goof had a baby boy born to his grandfather instead of the father. Grandfather didn't like it much—said he'd done raised his family. So we're running a correction elsewhere in this issue.
