A total of 2,500 delegates, representing 1,500,000 homemakers, are expected to attend this year's meeting, Oct. 11 to 14. Most of the four days will be devoted to "work" sessions in which the women will develop programs they can carry to their extension clubs back home, says Miss Murie Scales, state extension agent at Oregon State college.

Speakers will include Gov. Mark Hatfield, Congresswoman Edith Green, C. M. Ferguson, administrator, federal extension service, Washington, D.C., and Dr. Fred Kern, director of religious affairs in civil defense mobilization, Battle Creek, Mich.

Nearly 250 Oregon homemakers, official hostesses, are already serving on committees and other help is being enlisted, reports Mrs. E. E. Kirkpatrick of Salem, Oregon's general convention chairman. Baking "cookies" for better roads "Cookies" of asphalt paving are baked and frozen in our laboratories, so we can measure how highways wear in all types of weather.

The man is William H. Ellis, one of Standard's scientists who conduct many such tests to improve highway materials and construction methods. We actually build roads, subject them to crushing pressure, try out many paving mixes, work closely with highway engineers.

Our work benefits you both as a motorist and a taxpayer. Asphalt costs less than any other pavement... three miles of highway for the cost of two. You also get roads that resist skids, cut down glare, make lane markers easier to see... roads which are smooth, quiet and comfortable.

Asphalt roads are ready for use within hours after laying... cost less to maintain and can be even stronger and better after years of service.

By such continuing research that brings you better products at lower cost, the people at Standard are planning ahead to serve you better.

Standard's asphalt products are made and sold by American Bitumuls & Asphalt Company, a wholly-owned subsidiary.
