Account Bill Hearings Scheduled by House

The House Interior and Insular Affairs committee has scheduled public hearings on legislation making Columbia Basin power revenues available for reclamation development. Congressman Al Ullman (D-Ore.) announced that he had been advised last week that the hearings are scheduled for Jan. 25. Ullman is a sponsor of the proposed bill and a member of the Interior committee.

Under the bill all federal power projects in the Columbia River Basin would be included in a unit accounting system, with an annual accounting report to Congress. This proposal is "not a new concept," Ullman has pointed out, "for we already have precedents in the Upper Colorado River and Missouri Basin accounts."

Purpose of the proposed legislation would be to make available for reclamation development revenues from federal power projects in excess of those necessary to meet the payout on the power project itself.

"Our long-range goal," Ullman stated, "should be true multiple use development of our natural resources. This must include our traditional goal of development of our hydroelectrical potential in the people's interest as well as development of irrigation, navigation, flood control and recreation potential. Testimony presented on both sides of the current proposal should assist us in legislating to meet that goal."

Feb. 1 Is Final Date For Obtaining Crop Commodity '59 Loans

Producers are reminded that, normally, Jan. 31, 1960, is the final date for approving loans and purchase agreements for 1959 crop barley, dry edible beans, oats, rye and wheat.

Since Jan. 31 falls on a non-workday, Feb. 1 has been established as the final date. Applicable loan or purchase agreement documents must be delivered to the county ASC office and signed by the producer on or before this date.

Producers desiring farm-storage loans are urged to request sampling of bins in advance of this date (preferably not later than Jan. 22, 1960) to allow sufficient time for grade determinations and processing of loans.

Final date for disbursing the above mentioned loans is Feb. 15, 1960. Producers having loans to be disbursed by financial institutions are instructed to present the loans for disbursement without delay and, in any event, not later than closing hours on Feb. 15.

Final date for approving 1959 crop corn loans and purchase agreements will be May 31, 1960.

Jan. 31 Deadline For Alien Reports

Immigration officials are well pleased with the response of aliens in the state of Oregon to address report requirements.

James L. Turner, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, Portland, stated that although the program has been underway only 14 days, the number reporting thus far is well ahead of the number reporting during the same period last year.

Aliens have until the end of January within which to submit their report of address to the government. Forms for the purpose may be obtained at any post office or any office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

All aliens, with few exceptions, are required to report. Those excluded from this requirement include diplomats, persons accredited to certain international organizations and persons who were admitted temporarily as agricultural workers.

Aliens who are minors must also report, but the parent or legal guardian should submit the report for an alien child under 14 years of age.

Employers' Deadline On W-2 Withholding Certificate Set Jan. 31

Employers and employees in the Oregon district of the Internal Revenue Service were reminded this week by District Director A. G. Erickson of the importance of the W-2 withholding certificate in the proper filing of 1959 federal income tax returns.

Employers, he points out, are obligated by law to furnish copies of this form to their employees by Jan. 31. Employees, in turn, must attach the copy of the W-2 to their form 1040, 1040A or 1040W when filing.

Erickson urged employees to prepare their returns as soon as they receive their withholding certificates and to file them as soon as possible thereafter. Larger employers can help by providing their workers with the W-2 form before the deadline date.

Director Erickson also reminded employees who have worked for more than one concern during 1959 that all of the W-2's they received during the year must be included with the 1959 income tax return.

In the case of couples filing jointly, each of whom was employed during the year, care should be taken that all W-2's are attached and any change of jobs indicated. While the April 15 deadline still is in effect, early filing would prove advantageous both to the taxpayers and to the government, Erickson indicated.
