Of Fellowship Dinner
At Methodist Church

"Africa" was the theme for the February fellowship dinner at the Methodist church last Wednesday evening.

The table decorations of native houses and palm trees were made by the junior department during additional sessions. Gumdrops and animals created by the intermediate group marched down the tables. A birthday cake, honoring those with February birthdays, had an outline of Africa on it and was provided by hostesses, Mrs. Merilean Robbins and Mrs. Mural Lewis.

Birthday guests were Clinton Robbins, Dave Beers, W. W. Foster, Mrs. Bill Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Chenault.

African folk songs were presented by the primary and junior children. Mrs. Kinsey Keever introduced Miss Celia Cowan, former missionary to Africa, now retired and living in Homedale, Idaho. Miss Cowan, in native dress, showed colored slides of the Belgian Congo.

Mrs. Bill Schireman
And Mrs. John Broad

African Missionary Talks to Children

Children attending additional sessions at the Methodist church last Wednesday at 4 o'clock had the privilege of hearing a missionary from Africa, when Miss Celia Cowan talked to them.

Those present not only saw a rhinoceros tooth and a hair from an elephant's tail, but got to touch them. Carvings of wood, ebony and ivory, needlework by African children, paintings and native dress materials were viewed.

Over 40 children are enrolled in these after-school classes held each Wednesday for those in first through sixth grades. The sessions are sponsored by the WSCS, and it is a part of the all-church study on "Africa."
