Mr. and Mrs. Babe Hamilton have moved to the Bud Callison home on the state line.

FIXED FOR LIFE

The car may be repaired but this small victim will never be the same. All because some driver gambled with speed limits, cheated a stop sign or ignored road markings. Most accidents can be traced to such law violations. Each day they injure, cripple and kill thousands. Help end this frightful toll! Drive carefully. Obey the law. Insist that others do, too. Where traffic laws are strictly obeyed, accidents go down!

FACE THIS FACT

Drivers are the No. 1 cause of traffic accidents which last year injured 1,400,000 and killed 38,000. This year an increase is threatened. How long must this go on? YOU can supply the answer!

FISCHERS UNINJURED FROM TWO-CAR MISHAP

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Fischer were involved in a two-car collision July 1 while enroute to Portland to visit his mother, Mrs. Mary Fischer, and his sister, Pauline.

The accident occurred near Pendleton and involved another car driven by Mrs. Velma Williams of Hermiston who had two grandchildren as passengers.

The Fischers were not injured, nor were the occupants of the other vehicle. Fischer estimates damage to his car at approximately $800.

RETURNS FROM COAST TRIP

Adolph Schroeder recently returned from a two weeks' trip to California, where he visited relatives. On June 28, his sister and her husband at Long Beach celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. He also visited his sister and husband at San Diego, a brother and wife at Bellflower and his son and children at Apple Valley, all in California.

Mrs. Grover Elgan and four children were at the Jesse Elgan home one day last week enroute from their home at Pasco, Wash., to spend a month with her mother in Utah.

Mr. and Mrs. George Vandewall and children have returned from a week spent camping and fishing near Ironside.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Rathburn of La Puente, Calif., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wild.

Type Was Made to Read

"Type," said the foreman, "was made to read, And that is a maxim it's well to heed, For the printer frequently gets a start With a craze for 'beauty,' a bug for 'art,' Which holds him fast in a fearful gripe And keeps him trying mad stunts with type, With seventeen fonts and seventy styles And borders by thousands and rules by miles.

"Type," said the foreman, "was made to read, But the printer, oftentimes, in his greed For novel features and 'class' and 'tone,' Forgets this fact he has always known And sends out work that is fine to see And 'smart' and 'natty' as it can be, A job with a swagger and high-bred look, But hard to read as a Chinese book!

"Type," said the foreman, "was made to read, And that should serve as the printer's creed, For work on the Linotype machine Or hand-set jobs should be clear and clean, Not ornamental, obscure, bizarre Composed of all of the fonts there are, But simple, legible, quiet, plain, A joy alike to the eye and brain!

"For art in printing is not the way Of wild extravagance, weird display, But rather the unobtrusive thrall Of type that gives you no shock at all, But draws your eyes to the page with zest And holds your mind to the thought expressed; We must keep ourselves to this simple creed, Type was made—and is meant—to READ!"
