

From This Corner . . .

By T. M. B.

Astronomically, summer starts next Thursday, June 22, but "televisionally" it has already hit. The program of re-runs started June 1 and it is rather difficult to find a filmed program that one hasn't seen within the past year or so.

That way the executives can take a long vacation, leaving only the technical men to do the work. It is a little rough on the advertisers who choose this method of informing the public, as we suspect normal viewers turn off their sets if they have seen the picture previously.

We still have trouble keeping some advertisers aware that the Journal is printed and mailed on Wednesday night (one day earlier than the other two county papers) and that our ad deadline is Tuesday noon. And that doesn't mean that a small weekly can handle it if all brought in at that time. The earlier it is brought in the better attention it gets and the less the chance for errors.

A highlight resulting from the last issue of the Journal came from an out-of-town woman, not a subscriber to the paper, who was very unhappy that we did not use a picture and item she sent us for publication. The person pictured had been elected head of a church in Boston, Mass., and the lady said it was "news" and that we were against her church or we'd have used it.

We tried to explain by telephone that we had limited space and that since the church had no branch in Nyssa we saw no news. However, she hung up before hearing our explanation! Ho! Hum! Never a dull moment and an editor shouldn't be thin-skinned.

A small town has been defined as a place where all the people know the news before the paper comes out and subscribe simply to see if the editor gets the story the way they heard it.

A sport is defined as the fellow who goes to a convention and doesn't get a hotel room because the convention only lasts five days.

Betty Talbot reports she saw a deer on the Nyssa school ground early one morning recently. Betty says that's no "bull."

A real test of will power is to have the same ailment some person is describing to you . . . and not mention it.

There's room to burn in one of our two newest states, but the other is a bit on the crowded side. According to the Census bureau, Alaska averages out to less than half a person per square mile, while Hawaii has 96.8 people per square mile.

California exceeds the latter with a density of 99.2. But it has about reached the saturation point—with smog—the doctors are advising thousands in the L. A. area to leave for health reasons.

Ever notice how many times fun wound up being trouble?

According to Temperance Education, Inc., alcoholism has now reached epidemic proportions. One out of 36 Americans, 1 out of 20 Chicagoans, and 1 out of 6 citizens of San Francisco is afflicted. It further states that 9 out of 10 addicts die without rehabilitation. Anyone have the figures for Nyssa?

We used to think that gangsters were like the Capones and confined to the larger U.S. cities but now we know they head some of the governments—one within 90 miles of our shoreline and we aren't above dealing with him. Not on a government level, mind you—we don't recognize him officially but our president asks some very influential citizens to head the "Tractors for Freedom" drive. To us it should be called "blackmail," pure and simple.

Why not start a drive to buy all the other freedom fighters who have been enslaved behind the Iron Curtain—their cause was certainly just as worthy.

Trading prisoners with the enemy has been done before but putting a cash value on human lives reaches a new low and we feel it is time for intervention on our part regardless of what the Latin American nations say. If slaves are to be put up at auction again what will the price be the next time it occurs?

Yesterday, June 14, was Flag day. The headquarters of United Nations in New York is the only place within the U.S. or its possessions where another flag is given more prominence or honor than Old Glory. There the UN flag is supreme. Have we given up part of our freedom in surrendering to the rulings of this idealistically-created, but impractical body?
