

Lincoln Heights

By Mrs. Vern L. Smith

(Last Week's News)

Dr. and Mrs. George Howe and three children of Santa Barbara, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Talbot, Rosemary and John of Talbotville, Conn., were June 24 evening guests at the Amos DeJmal home. Dr. Howe is a teacher at Westmont college in Santa Barbara and John Talbot and Roger DeJmal were students there the past year.

Mrs. Gene Wolf and family left June 25 for their home in West Linn, Ore., after visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Hawkin and with other relatives. The Wolf family accompanied Mrs. David Rees to Salt Lake City to visit a sister of the two ladies, Mrs. Jim Holbrook and family. Arch Hawkins accompanied his daughter to West Linn to assist with the driving.

Kathy Penn spent June 25 with Jeannie Talerico at the Charles Webb home. Lynn Webb spent the day at the Orien Hainline home.

Receives Painful Burns

Elaine Harris, 1 1/2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Harris, received painful burns on her feet and hands when she climbed on some galvanized tin that was in the sun one of the recent extremely hot days.

Betty Simrell, a missionary appointee, was visiting speaker June 24 at youth night held in Butte church. Her home is in Baker. The young people went to Malheur nursing home at Vale June 25 to present a program.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Norton and family recently went to Salem to attend a family reunion.

Attend Family Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Webb, Cathy, Lynn and Jeannie, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Leininger of Ontario, attended a family reunion June 25 at the Don Cole home in Parma. The occasion was in honor of Mrs. George Van Biber and daughters, Karen, Gretchen and Susan, and Mrs. Mabel Lant, all of Vancouver, Wash. Mrs. Van Biber was a former resident of Payette and had not been back to this vicinity for 14 years.

Roy Barnes recently returned to his job at Baker after spending two weeks with the National Guard at Fort Lewis, Wash., and then spending a weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barnes.

Roland Whitsell has gone to Pogue Point above Unity where

Specialist Believes Healthy Attitude On Aging 'Greatly Needed' in Society

Youthfulness has been so overplayed in our society that a healthy attitude toward aging has become one of our greatest needs, an Oregon State university extension specialist believes.

In the next 20 years, Oregon's population will include a greater share of older couples, widows and single persons, reports Mrs. Roberta Frasier, OSU specialist. And unless Oregonians educate themselves and the younger generation to face aging realistically, they will be unprepared to plan programs for the aging that will be needed in the years ahead, she insists.

"Before people can plan for later years, they first have to change their ideas about aging," she emphasized. "Your attitude toward age affects your success in aging gracefully."

Advices Defining Attitudes
The OSU specialist says the first step is to define your attitudes toward aging:

Do you dread the thought of growing older? Do you try to act younger than your years? Do you try to ignore your birthday anniversary?

What are you teaching children about aging? Parents who exhibit healthy attitudes toward age are teaching youngsters in a most meaningful way that age commands respect.

What do you know about the aging process? Aging is a natural process that has unique advantages—brought on only by maturity as we add years to our lives, continues the family life specialist. The middle years are a time to slow down some physically but to extend energies into developing more personal and community interests. Older age is an opportunity to gain new experiences during one of life's rare periods when there are fewer demands being made on us, Mrs. Frasier says.

Offers Opportunity to Learn
"The older years are a golden opportunity to learn for the sake of learning and to share accumulated wisdom with the rest of society," she added.

"Old" is more a state of mind than a state of being. No one can avoid getting older but it is possible to age without getting "old," reminds the specialist.

Families need to recognize how society has changed ways families live and learn to adjust to these new patterns, she noted.

Housing, greater mobility of population, longer life and all the changes brought about by technology have influenced the role of older persons in families, it was pointed out. For example in the past, young marrieds were expected to set up housekeeping in the same household or on the "back forty." Today we expect young couples to be independent of their parents when they marry.

Parents also want to be on their own and not have to live with their children. People live longer today. This means they have to plan for more years of active life after retirement, Mrs. Frasier commented.

An individual's attitude toward aging and his acceptance of social changes will influence the kind of resources and programs we build for our aging population, says Mrs. Frasier. She represented the federal extension service at the recent White House Conference on Aging.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Elliott spent the Fourth of July weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stringer on their cattle ranch near Kilgore, Idaho. Dr. and Mrs. David W. Sarazin went to Kilgore Monday and will remain until Thursday with the Stringers.

Why I Hate Advertising

My name's Johnson. I'm a taxpaying American citizen and I hate advertising.

Take toothpaste. Since I was a pup I used the same toothpaste. So my wife reads ads about toothpaste that stops decay. Nothing will do but we use this new stuff. Sure, the kids don't have cavities any more but this new toothpaste sure doesn't taste to me like the old days. Thanks to advertising.

Take washing machines and dryers and all that jazz. These women read ads about saving work and time so they got appliances all over the place. I figure they haven't got enough to do anyway. Nuts to advertising.

If you want to get right down to it, take all this advertising my competition runs. These characters run ads with prices so low I got to run my own ads and practically give the stuff away. It's the only way I can get people in to buy my stuff. Advertising is a heck of a way to run a business.

Advertising is for the birds. It gives the customer all the breaks. Speaking for myself, the only time I ever read it is when I'm going to buy something and need to find out where I can get the best buy.

The only time it pays to be advertised at is when you're going to buy something.
