The double ring rites were performed by the Rev. Marshall Wayne Simpson in the presence of 150 relatives and friends.

Large baskets of white gladioli provided the setting while wedding music and accompaniment were furnished by Elizabeth Krumpke. Beni Rose sang "Oh Promise Me," "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Davis wore a gown of nylon organza featuring fitted bodice, long sleeves and appliqued lace. The full skirt, with bow in back, flowed into a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of pearls and rhinestones. Her bouquet was of white and lavender roses, entwined with stephanotis.

Mrs. Lela Sandrock attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Dianna McBeth and Patti Little. They all wore identical dresses of lavender checked arnel designed with full skirts and cummerbunds and wore hats of matching lavender. They carried baskets spilling white and lavender daisy garlands.

Michelle Sandrock, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a pastel pink dress and scattered petals from a white basket containing pink and white daisies.

Russell Stokes was best man, while ushers were Dale Sandrock, brother-in-law of the bride and Robert Lueders.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Davis wore a blue lace afternoon dress with matching hat and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a purple floral print with matching hat and bone accessories. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. A three-tier cake, decorated in lavender and topped with miniature newlyweds, graced the serving table. It was surrounded by lavender daisies and mums and flanked by lavender tapers.
