If You Have Part-Time Help At Your House, Don't Read This

We're addressing these words to a specific housewife. She's active. She probably has at least two children. She finds more than enough to do each day around the house—beginning at 6:30 or 7:00 in the morning and ending, sometimes, when the children go to bed.

Recently, we asked an independent research organization to visit with housewives just like this. The topic was extension telephones. Curiously, some of these ladies thought their houses too "small" for a second phone. Yet, as each described the amount of meal fixing, clothes washing and housework she did, it became obvious that none really lived in a "small" house. So, if you're an active housewife, with children, and a busy schedule each day, decide right now to make your life easier and more pleasant with a useful extension phone.

To begin with, a second phone is not the exclusive province of "the mansion on the hill." For proof, consider the fact that more than 1 out of every 5 western families now has an extension phone. Why? Because it's a proven step- and time-saver. Because it adds privacy to your life. Because, with a choice of nine colors and three styles, a second phone is as lovely to look at as it is convenient to use.

So why deprive yourself—and your family—any longer? To order, just call our business office or ask a telephone serviceman.
