Town and Country Church Sessions Scheduled at OSU

A survey of changes taking place in town and country churches, and the problems created by these changes, will be spotlighted at a special conference to be held early in October.

Results of a survey of changes taking place in churches that serve rural people will be reported at the 1961 Oregon Town and Country Church conference to be held at Oregon State university Oct. 9 to 11. Completed survey forms are now being received from Oregon churches, reports Mrs. Mabel C. Mack, assistant director of the OSU cooperative extension service and conference chairman.

Survey results will be reported the first day of the conference, Mrs. Mack said. Then, speakers and discussion groups will examine changes reported and seek ways to renew the vitality of churches faced with problems created by these changes.

Key speaker at this year's conference will be Dr. E. W. Mueller, secretary for Town and Country, National Lutheran church, Chicago.

Other speakers will include

Ladies Attend Extension Unit Training Session

By Mrs. O. P. Council
SUNSET VALLEY—The Mmes. Charlie Culbertson, Frank Holub, Earl Ward and O. P. Council attended an officers' training meeting of extension units Friday afternoon in the Nyssa Methodist church recreation hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Williamson and daughter, Grace of Leoti, Kan., were Tuesday overnight guests in the E. J. Hobson home.

The Rev. and Mrs. Carl Wilde of Bingen, Wash., were Sunday visitors in the E. J. Hobson home. They had been visiting in Nampa and were enroute home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gibson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Montgomery and children attended a Montgomery family reunion Saturday in Murtaugh, Idaho.

Mr. and Mrs. Walt Hillis and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Mitchell went to Boise Sunday to visit Mrs. Carrie Hillis. The former Colleen Hillis and her husband, the Jake Bairds, and Jerry Hillis, all of Boise, were also afternoon visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lorenson and granddaughters, Diane and Carolyn Whitman, spent Wednesday morning in Payette. The young ladies left in the afternoon for their home in Yakima.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Purdue and son of Nyssa visited Sunday evening in the Glen Strickland home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tobler and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Elkins, all of Nyssa, visited Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Newgen. Worthwhile club members met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Perko.

John Knottingham of the Mitchell Butte community, Charles Moore of Nampa and Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Council attended the fair at Homedale Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Wilson and family spent Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson in Roswell.

Stoker Has Back Surgery
 Lee Stoker entered St. Alphonsus hospital in Boise Wednesday, where he underwent spinal surgery. He is expected home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jensen were hosts at a Sunday birthday dinner for her mother, Mrs. Guy Glenn. In addition to the Glenns, guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schweizer.

The Ray Strickland family of the Cow Hollow vicinity recently went to Seattle to visit her sister, Mrs. Glen Leigh, and a brother, Cal Hopper. They returned the first of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Dimmick and grandson, Butch Fyellingness, recently spent two weeks at Big Creek in Idaho. They packed into the high lakes and report good fishing. Their friends, the Scott Neals of Boise, were also campers there. The trio returned home Aug. 22.

Mrs. Enarir Ableson and her mother, Mrs. Amelia Fyellingness of Idaho Falls, were in the valley last week visiting friends. Wednesday, they called on Mr. and Mrs. Neil Dimmick.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ward and family were Sunday dinner guests at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Talbot.

Enters Portland Hospital
 Ed Price was recently admitted to the Veterans' hospital in Portland where he was under observation and received tests.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. George Folkman spent a recent weekend camping and fishing at Lost lake in Idaho, returning home Aug. 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Garner recently went to Idaho Falls, then on to Whitehall, Mont., to visit the Robert Maws and Dale Sessions families. They returned home via Missoula, Coeur d'Alene and Spokane. They also visited their children, the Norman Garners, Keith Woolleys and Dean Sharps in Othello, Wash. Their younger sons, Jay and Douglas, who had been visiting in Othello, and four of Norman Garner's children, returned home with them.

Brent Folkman's horse, River Watch, won third place in the 1961 class for horse colts at a recent horse show in Emmett.

Youths Represent Malheur County At Range Camp on Wildlife Refuge

Representing Malheur county at this year's Youth Range camp were Owen Berrett, Nyssa; Howard Girvin and Marvin Haylett, Vale; and Rod McKay, Harper. The camp was held early in August at the old "P" ranch on the Malheur Wildlife refuge south of Burns.

Berrett placed third in the grand contest held at the camp. In this contest, boys located and listed the common and scientific names of as many as possible of 100 range plants found in the area.

A total of 48 boys from 15 eastern and southern Oregon counties attended the camp. They were selected through plant identification contests in their county or on the basis of leadership, citizenship and love of the outdoors.

Boys Have Local Sponsors
 Each boy at camp received a scholarship from local sponsors to cover costs of attending. Sponsors in Malheur county included Malheur Pomona Grange, Ontario Farm Bureau, County Cattleman's association and the U. S. National banks in Vale and Ontario.

The camp is sponsored each year by Pacific Northwest section of American Society of Range Management. Main purpose of the camp is to give boys a chance to spend a week living out of doors in range country, giving them a better outlook on plant and animal life.

At camp boys slept out of doors under the stars and all instruction was on out-of-door subjects. The game refuge, surrounded by grazing lands and valley meadows, gave the boys a large laboratory in which to study.

Activities Enumerated
 During study sessions, the boys learned to identify and describe various plants found on the range, studied soil and range judging, took part in discussions on conservation and wildlife, and received instruction in photography, fishing, hunting, camping and hiking. On the side, the boys managed to squeeze in a little softball, horseshoes and other camp games.

Around evening campfires, the youths learned more about work of the range management society, held special contests and participated in a "tall tales" contest.

Major emphasis at the camp was set by a plant description contest held the first day. In this contest and all during camp sessions, boys were urged to keep their eyes and ears open and to observe, appreciate and remember what was going on around them.

 Bad publicity, like malicious gossip, spreads rapidly and no antidote is fully effective. Nyssa is still reaping the harvest from the three articles written by Joe Bianco in the Oregonian in July.

One of our readers sent our July 20 editorial to the Oregonian and they were kind enough to print it in full as a "rebuttal" in their Aug. 6 issue. However, someone thought Joe had done a real job and the story was printed in the Aug. 12 issue of Editor and Publisher, with Nyssa again mentioned in the story like we had a monopoly on bad labor situations in Oregon.

This magazine has a national circulation and has spread the bad publicity farther than the Oregonian. We will send the copy of the Oregonian carrying the editorial to the magazine and ask them to look at the other side of the picture.

By 1 p.m. Sunday a Boise paper was not for sale in the usual outlets. The explanation we received was everyone was interested in the gunman who wounded two officers near Caldwell. We can certainly get disturbed when tragedy gets near home and yet show no concern over the world situation in which a war could destroy our entire civilization.

We admire Congressman Norblad (Oregon) for his efforts to keep farm foods from being shipped to Iron Curtain countries. If there have sufficient food shortages there is a chance their leaders would let the people devote more time to this vocation than to manufacturing war weapons.

Leaders are active people and they are most frequently the ones criticized. Many others could be leaders but lack confidence and energy.
