Public Welfare Group Administrators Plan State Association

Administrator John C. Kerns of Malheur County Public Welfare commission recently attended a two-day meeting in Salem. Welfare administrators from all of Oregon's 36 counties attended.

Andrew Juras, state public welfare administrator, explained that the state commission was operating under a limited budget and requested each county to execute every precaution in administering the welfare program, in an effort to conserve funds and live within the present allocation.

During the meeting, the county welfare administrators took steps to form a Public Welfare Administrator's association. It was felt such an organization would enable welfare commissions at the county level to have a more active part in the total program and the exchange of ideas and suggestions would be beneficial to both the state and county commissions.

Kerns was one of five administrators appointed to represent the county administrators in forming this new organization.

FARMER FAMILY RETURNS FROM CALIFORNIA TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Farmer and family returned Sunday evening from California. They visited Lt. Commander and Mrs. J. F. Hall in Vallejo and met their daughter, Janie, who had been visiting in the Hall home. The two families then went to San Francisco to meet their sons, Warren, Jr., and Andy Hall, who had spent some time in Hawaii.

In San Francisco, the Farmer family was joined by his sister, Mrs. Kirk J. Anderson and sons of Seattle. The group toured Disneyland and attended a baseball game in Candlestick park between the San Francisco Giants and the Los Angeles Dodgers.
