

Another Methuselah

Clyde Swisher: You can be sure that if Shakespeare were alive today, he'd be considered a remarkable man.
Pupil: He sure ought to be; he'd be more than 300 years old.

Scientific Progress . . .

The machine that once did away with horses is now well on the way to doing away with people.

Care-Free Care!
Dave Sarazin: Well, you'll get along okay. Your left leg is swollen but I wouldn't worry about it.
Patient: No, and if your left leg was swollen, I wouldn't worry about it, either.

Great Expectations!
A young woman purchased a pair of stockings at The Merc and returned them in less than an hour, demanding her money back.
Floyd asked, as he was refunding the money, "Didn't these stockings come up to your expectations?"
"Heavens, no," she replied, "They hardly came up to my knees."

A man walked into Lyle Miner's barber shop and asked for a shave.
Richard said to Lyle: "Let me shave him; I can use the practice."
"Okay," said Lyle, "go ahead, but be careful . . . don't cut yourself."
