Treasure Valley Community College Trustees Accept Offer From Ontario For Permanent Location at No Cost

Golf Course and 40-Acre Tract Adjoining On South Included in Acreage to Be Given

Dr. Eugene Voris of Ontario, administrator of Treasure Valley Community college, reported Wednesday morning that the college trustees had accepted a site for the permanent location of the college.

He said they had accepted Ontario's offer of the land now occupied by the golf course and an additional 40 acres adjoining it on the south. The offer involves no cost to taxpayers of the district. Transfer of title is in the process of being completed now, Voris said.

Supt. McPartland Discusses Need Of Tax Base Raise

By W. L. McPARTLAND
Superintendent of Schools

Three questions should arise in the minds of Nyssa patrons concerning the issue of raising the tax base to $414,230. The first question may well be, "Why isn't the present base sufficient?" The second question could be, "What are we getting for our money?" and thirdly, "Are we paying more for the education of our youngsters than we should?"

Let's take a look at the first question. It is very unlikely that the old base will ever meet our needs in the foreseeable future.

We have simply grown to the extent that our costs will have to exceed this base. Our growth is due to several additions deemed necessary by your board of education and are a direct outgrowth of pressure being brought on the board by patrons demanding these services.

Enrollment Increases

The class for mentally retarded is one department which has been added and a guidance counselor for the high school is another. The increase in high school enrollment from 293 to 372 since the old base was established in 1955 has increased the high school faculty by four teachers. In the next two years this figure will pass the 400 mark. Total enrollment has increased from 1193 to 1290.

All of these increases are not taken care of by the 6 percent increase allowed under the old base so each year the budget must be submitted to a vote. Mass meetings are called for the purpose of explaining the needs of the school to patrons, but only a handful of people turn out for these meetings. Then, unless a

TUESDAY MEETING SLATED TO FORM POLICE AUXILIARY

All persons interested in forming a Nyssa Police Auxiliary corps are asked to contact any of the local city officers, according to Chief Bob Love. Several persons have expressed a desire to form such an organization, the chief stated.

A meeting has been scheduled for 7:30 Tuesday evening, Oct. 30, in Nyssa city hall. All interested persons 21 years of age and over are encouraged to attend.

The meeting will be conducted with the assistance of the Emmett Auxiliary department and Chief of Police Bill Holland.

State School Psychologist Reviews Special Education Program in Nyssa

Mrs. Verna B. Hogg, school psychologist from the State Department of Education, spent three days recently reviewing work of the Special Education department of Nyssa schools.

Most of her work consisted of help given to the local department headed by Mrs. Josephine Rigney. This department is primarily concerned with youngsters who have serious emotional problems. If the school can uncover the cause of the upset conditions among various children, it can often remedy a bad situation and save children from a wasted educational life.

Many times emotional problems are caused by environmental factors such as broken homes, children moving from place to place, detrimental comparisons between children of a family group or a lack of close relationship between parents and children.

Procedure Explained

Teachers know from the behavior of a child that something is wrong. Mrs. Rigney is then called upon to try to find out what may be the trouble. Sometimes a conference is all that is needed. If there are nervous disorders, they may be discovered by psychometric tests.

Often such tests indicate that a child should be referred to someone in the medical profession. Sometimes the specialist in psychology from the state department gives the child's teacher and

Other Sites Considered

Board Secretary Grant Rinehart said three other sites were considered but rejected as not being suitable and complying with state and national recommendations.

Ground at the Ontario airport was offered by the city, at no cost, but was outside the city limits and hence did not have police protection or water and sewer facilities. The same objections were made on the Koopman farm site, together with insufficient land in one tract.

One site in the southeast part of Ontario near the railroad tracks was rejected due to the physical layout of the land.

Quality for State Funds

Rinehart said the reason for the rush in accepting a site was to meet the state requirements when asking for appropriation of funds for erection of buildings. This, he said, was a minimum of three years off but since the legislature meets only every two years they must prepare ahead of actual needs to have the funds available.

No estimate has been made as to the costs of permanent buildings as the size and number will be largely determined by the demands of students and the number enrolled or anticipated growth when buildings are necessary.

The state pays 75 percent of the costs of the buildings with local taxpayers paying the other 25 percent plus the cost of furnishings and equipment needed.

Golf Course to Continue in Use

According to the Oct. 18 issue of the Ontario Argus-Observer, the golf course will continue to be used for a few years until preparations for the buildings are necessary.

When objections were raised, at a recent meeting of the city council, to giving up the golf course, John Easley told of the importance of the college to the city of Ontario which seems to answer most of the objections.

Relocation of the golf course on the Ontario airport is being considered by city groups, with the idea of expanding into an 18-hole course. How it would be financed has not been decided.

Westward View Depicts Widened Highway

THIS PHOTO was taken Monday on Nyssa's East Main street, looking west. It reveals the vast difference in the width of the highway on opposite sides of the intersection. Curbing, guttering and drains were completed by the city prior to the highway department's paving work past the sugar factory, which was completed before the beet trucks began to roll on Oct. 2. Remainder of the paving project to the Snake river bridge will be done later. To the extreme left in the photo may be seen a portion of the White Satin sugar factory and storage silos. A beet truck has just left the dump yards to return to the field for another load of sugar beets. On the far right is the Nyssa service clubs sign near the intersection of East Main and East Third streets. —Staff Photo.

Park Improvements Started at River Site

Nyssa city employees are presently working in preparation for the new Snake River park at the east city limits, Manager Art Colby said this week. The area is being filled with top soil and will be leveled for grass seeding and tree planting. Picnic tables are planned as well as sanitary facilities and drinking water.

Installation of basketball backboards is planned for south city park adjacent to the tennis court and the parking lot at the swimming pool site. This will afford utilization of the areas during the off season.

New Nyssa Census Figure Set at 2,740

On Oct. 10 the city of Nyssa received notice from the Oregon State Board of Census of population certification at 2,740. This was a result of a recent special census enumeration taken by the Nyssa Lions club and Junior Chamber of Commerce, City Manager Art Colby reported this week.

A special census taken in 1958 indicated a population of 2,652. The 1960 federal census counted 2,594 with an adjustment of 2,611. The 1950 census indicated a population of 2,525. Colby said.

The 1962 population is an increase over 1960 of 4.9 percent and an 8.5 increase over the 1950 figure.

Sabin Oral Polio Vaccination Drive Starts in Malheur Towns Nov 3-4; All Over Six Weeks of Age Eligible

Area Medical Societies Hope to Eliminate Dreaded Disease With Low Cost Doses

The Sabin polio vaccination drive, delayed from Sept. 29-30, is scheduled for Nyssa, Ontario, Vale, Jordan Valley and 15 towns of Southwestern Idaho Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 3-4.

Medical societies of Southwestern Idaho and Malheur county, Oregon, have set these dates for the first dose of the oral vaccine, with the second series due Dec. 8-9 and the third one planned in the spring with date to be announced.

Doctors and nurses are donating their services for this all-out drive. The doses cost only 35 cents (or all three for $1) and all that is necessary is to bring yourself and family to the nearest town for the dosage.

Forms to Be Filled Out

The doctors are asking for pre-registration forms to be filled out before that date so they will not be slowed down in giving the 2000 to 3000 doses they expect to administer each day. The same forms give the parents' consent for children under 21 years of age to be administered the dose.

These are available at the two drug stores in Nyssa, or readers may clip one from next week's issue of the Gate City Journal.

The schedules for Malheur towns are: Jordan Valley, high school building; Nyssa, multipurpose room in the primary building; Ontario, Ontario clinic; Vale, Grange hall. Nearby Idaho towns include New Plymouth, grade school; Payette, American Legion hall; and Parma, community house.

The hours are from 1 to 9 p.m. each day in all the towns.

Medical Societies' Slogans

The medical societies have adopted for their slogans in the area SOS (Sabin Oral Saturday and Sunday) and KOP (Knock Out Polio). Records show the disease has been eliminated in Israel and the doctors are certain that if everyone will participate the same can be done here.

Dr. David W. Sarazin, chairman in charge of the Nyssa drive, says that anyone old enough to remember the epidemic here a few years ago should go all out to get everyone in to remove every chance possible. He said that if anyone felt they were too old to need the vaccine they should take it lest they become a carrier and endanger someone else.

Americans Eat More Sweets

Ellen stated that food is much the same here, except that in her native Germany they do not eat so many sweets and during her stay here was her first time for "corn-on-the-cob." Another first was to see cake icing made from powdered sugar. She said cooking seemed so much easier in the United States, due to all the prepared and packaged foods.

TURNER BOND
... Appointed to Post in Corvallis

MISS ELLEN PETERSEN, IFYE student from Germany, is shown here as she looked over the many items of food on the shelves in a Nyssa market. She stated that they do not have frozen or prepared foods nor the many mixes in Germany that may be purchased in stores here. She said she believed that they would eventually have those things, but her people had been so busy rebuilding their country following World War II that they didn't have much time to concentrate on new ideas or products. —Staff Photo.
