FARM WAGON

You know, I'd like to ride again
A clattering, joggling high-wheeled Bain
And travel one-two miles an hour
With plodding team as mobile power.
And set a non-bifocaled eye
On barbed-wire fence that ambles by,
While sitting on the battered floor—
But we don't do that anymore.
Oh no, we sail at sixty-five,
Marooned at by jazz and jive;
We merely sit and let 'er zing
And don't see much of anything.
That's why I'd like to ride again
Behind a team in that old Bain
While counting bars between the spokes,
And live awhile with gentle folks.
—Charles D. Dulin.

(This poem was sent to the Journal by Mrs. Wilson Witt, rural correspondent for the Newell Heights area. With it was her note, "Reminded me of my young years on the farm." There will probably be numerous readers who will sit and reminisce after studying the contents of the poem. Makes one wonder just what is being missed during these fast-moving times.)

You can see why one of America's favorite outdoor sports is driving Chevrolets, with four entirely different kinds of cars to choose from. There's the Jet-smooth Chevrolet, about as luxurious as you can go without going overboard in price; the low-cost Chevy II, a good-looking car that would send any family packing; another family favorite, the sporty Corvaire, whose rear-engine traction will make you think that ice and snow are kid stuff; and for pure adventure, America's only sports car, Corvette—now in two all-new versions with looks that can stop traffic like a rush-hour blizzard. Picked your favorite already? The next thing is to take the wheel at your Chevrolet dealer's. If that doesn't have you thinking of places to go, maybe you'd rather just have a ball around town!
