

Work Smarter . . . Not Harder

By BERNICE STRAWN, Extension Home Management Specialist

The difference between success and failure for a homemaker is mainly the way she uses her 24 hours a day—and how she manages money. But this doesn't mean you have to be a perfectionist, an avid clock watcher or a penny-pincher. It's smart to strike a happy medium.

MORE KITCHEN STORAGE!

We hear that everywhere we go. Do you really need MORE or do you just hang on to too many things?

One of our county extension agents was asked to help a homemaker with this problem. We'll call her Mrs. J. Together they devised a scheme. All supplies were taken out of the cabinets. Then Mrs. J. gave each item a good hard look. When had she last used it? Utensils whose usefulness was questioned were put in a big box and carted out to the garage.

After six months Mrs. J. found she went to the garage only twice to get utensils from the box. And there was now plenty of storage space for kitchen supplies which deserved top priority.

NYLON, ACRYLAN OR WOOL?

Should I buy a nylon, acrilan or wool carpet? This question often comes to us.

Nylon and acrilan acrylic are very resilient, mildew and insect resistant and clean easily. The textured or dull nylon fibers will show less soil than the shiny ones. Be sure to ask the salesman if nylon fiber is the type made especially for carpet.

You may notice some static electricity in a new nylon carpet

ACCIDENTAL POISONINGS

Ten American children die every week from accidental poisonings around the house—spirin, cleaning and polishing agents, cosmetics—all because these products aren't properly stored or through some other carelessness.

Aspirin alone, left in the reach of children under five years, is responsible for 100 deaths a year. Are you taking adequate precautions in your house?

Children, dogs and even good husbands have been known to be hard on furniture. If you've been waiting for the youngsters to get bigger before you buy furniture, you don't need to put off buying on their account.

Thanks to science, many woven upholstery fabrics are now treated with a special finish that resists stains. Besides being water repellent, the surface also shuns grease spots. This means furniture can be both practical and lush all at the same time.

If you're upholstering or buying new furniture, ask to have the fabric treated before the chair or sofa is covered. It can't be done afterward and this is not a do-it-yourself job.

You pay for this finish but the furnishings will be practically child-proof. There are also some do-it-yourself products on the market that offer protection against soiling to a lesser degree.

COFFEE MAKER TROUBLE

Our electric coffee maker doesn't brew good coffee any more! What's wrong?

Perhaps it needs a little extra cleaning. All of them do once in a while, if you're going to get best results. A brisk scrubbing with a stiff brush is needed for the tubes, spouts and basket after each use.

To prevent off flavor, add one tablespoon of vinegar (or baking soda, except for aluminum pots) to six cups of water and plug into the outlet to percolate. After five or ten minutes, disconnect, pour out cleaning solution and rinse. Store the coffee pot loosely covered to avoid off odors.
