

Histories of Far-Away Places Listed Among New Books at County Library

New books going into circulation Saturday, March 23, at Malheur county library include the following:

"A Short History of Tibet" by H. E. Richardson. An authoritative history from earliest times to the Red Chinese invasion.

"The Philippines" by Albert Ravenholt. Discusses the history and political structure of the islands and tells about the customs and daily pastimes of the inhabitants.

"Hong Kong" by Gene Gleason. A first-hand account of one of the most unusual and exciting cities in the world.

"Tunisia" by John Anthony. An account written with humor, taste and sophistication about a land of astonishing contrast and variety.

"Everyone's Guide to Israel" by Joan Comay. A complete guidebook.

"China's Politics and Perspective" by Harold S. Quigley. A political history giving the background to the present American-Chinese foreign relations dilemma.

"The Caribbean: The Central American Area," edited by A. Curtis Wilgus. An extensive and intensive picture of six republics of Central America.

"The Year We Had No President" by Richard Hansen. Studies presidential inability, its dangers and implications, and suggests measures to be adopted to safeguard the country.

"The Drop-Outs" by the Scholarship and guidance association of Chicago. A treatment study of intellectually capable students who drop out of high school.

"Bonsai" by Gladys Aske. Discusses dwarfing trees in the modern manner.

"Everyone But Thee and Me" by Ogden Nash. A collection of humorous verse.

"Poppo" by Josef Berger. This is the true story of an affectionate but mischievous six-year-old urchin, Puerto Rican-born Popo, who decides to adopt a middle-aged Brooklyn couple, the author and his wife, as his parents.

"The Black Shrike" by Ian Stuart. A novel of intrigue and suspense.

"My Friend Martha's Aunt" by Jane Duncan. In a sequel to "My Friend Sandy" the Scotswoman Janet Alexander tells what happens when the aunt of her friend Martha arrives at St. Jago Island.

"Believe My Love" by Laurene Chinn. An unaffected though occasionally over-sentimentalized love story of a Nebraska girl and a Japanese-American engineering student.

"The Amateur Photographer's Handbook" by Aaron Sussman. This 1962 edition incorporates corrections suggested by the public and many of the improvements which have been made in photographic technique.

"Ask the Name of the Lion" by Ralph Allen. A modern novel of the Congo.

"The Expert Dreamers" edited by Frederik Pohl. Sixteen science fiction stories by scientists.

"Communism and Christian Faith" by Lester De Koster. A concise guide to the fundamentals of Communism, a pointed contrast between Communist and Christian faith and a clear call to Christian social action.

ARE YOU WHISTLING . . . IN THE DARK

Retailers are "whistling in the dark" when they feel their businesses are so well known they don't need advertising. An examination of a telephone directory of 10, 20 or 30 years ago will reveal that fact.

No community has a static population. Customers die and potential customers are born. People move away and new residents move in who are looking for the merchant who shows he wants their business by his aggressiveness to attract their patronage through newspaper advertising.

The average retailer loses 15% of his customers each year, and 6% of this 15% stop trading with a firm because of real or fancied belief the store or its owner is indifferent to their patronage. Advertising in print is genuine proof to both the regular and non-regular customer that the merchant cares and is not indifferent. Advertising should pull, not jerk.

Consistent newspaper advertising does more than promote immediate sales. It builds customer confidence in what is advertised and who advertises it; it keeps reminding even those who aren't ready to buy today, that this store has it; it builds desire for the products advertised.

Consistent advertising produces results.

The bells of the Notre Dame Cathedral ring out several times each day, as they have for centuries . . . so no one will forget Notre Dame is still there.
