Nyssa Vo-Ag Teacher Hopes to Secure Film

Carl Devin, Nyssa vo-ag teacher and his wife, Pat, recently returned from Pomona, Calif., where he attended a regional meeting of National Vocational Agriculture Teachers association on the campus of Poly-Tech.

The instructor reports that he saw a film, "Horizons in Agriculture," sponsored by California growers, giving the history of agriculture for the past 20 years. He said he hopes to secure the film for a Nyssa showing as he found it very interesting and educational.

Devin said that most of the lab work at California Poly-Tech is conducted out of doors, with about 80 percent field practices.

The Nyssa instructor was recently named state president of Oregon Vocational Agriculture Teachers association.
