

Nyssa Newcomers

THIS PHOTO will acquaint residents of the Nyssa area with the family of Harvey Easton. He is shown here with his wife, Donna; Mike, 4 years of age; Danny, 3; and Cookie, 2. Easton is meter reader for the Idaho Power company. The family came to Nyssa recently from Hagerman, Idaho, where he was with the Idaho Power plant. Mrs. Easton works as an aide at the nursing home in Ontario. While at Hagerman, Easton was noble grand of Odd Fellows lodge and his wife was active in Job's Daughters and a past princess of that organization. The Eastons are residing at 104 Locust avenue in Nyssa. —Staff Photo.

Nyssa FFA Students Receive Top Honors In Judging Contest

A soil judging contest for Future Farmers of America in the Snake River district was held Saturday at Vale and was co-sponsored by the Vale FFA chapter and the Malheur Soil Conservation district.

The students were given three sites to judge and the competition began at 9 o'clock in the morning. Burrell Lovell was official judge.

The judging team from Nyssa was comprised of Jay Garner, Roy Gibson, Mark Stephen, John Glascock and Vaughn Schulthies. Alternates were Van Schulthies, Mike Petterson, Leonard Phil-

Department of Agriculture Release Compares Livestock Totals With 1962

Oregon continued in 29th place nationally in its cattle totals in 1962, and its number of cattle was 1,435,000, the same as the previous year, despite the national increase in 1962.

Figures received by the Oregon Department of Agriculture from the U. S. Department of Agriculture listed the nation's total at 104,754,000 as of Jan. 1, 1963. The previous year it was 99,500,000. Texas was the leader in the nation with 10,240,000 head.

Beef cattle numbers showed an increase in Oregon during 1962 but the state remained in 21st place nationally. The Oregon total at the beginning of 1963 was 1,170,000 and the national figure was 74,907,000. Jan. 1, 1962, 1,157,000 beef cattle were listed for Oregon.

Figures for milk cows two years old and over in Oregon showed a decline in 1962, dropping from 170,000 to 162,000 from Jan. 1, 1962 to the following Jan. 1. However, the state remained in 32nd place nationally. Total figures for the nation the first of this year were 18,730,000 and Wisconsin was the leading state with 2,426,000 head.

Sheep Numbers Decline

Oregon moved into 13th spot nationally from 14th place in the number of sheep reported, but the total number of sheep and lambs in the state showed a decline. The Jan. 1, 1963, figure was 777,000 compared with 851,000 the previous year.

Nationally, too, the number was down. The first of this year 30,170,000 were recorded. A year ago it was 31,446,000. Texas also led the nation in sheep numbers in 1962. Their figure was 5,651,000.

Oregon Hogs Decrease

Nationally, hog numbers increased during 1962, but Oregon showed a drop. However, it was in 29th place nationally for both years. At the end of 1962, Oregon had 267,000 of the 94,244,000 hogs recorded for the nation. The state had 271,000 on Jan. 1, 1962, and the nation, 93,173,000.

Iowa continued to lead the nation in hog production, but while the nation showed an increase in numbers, Iowa had a decrease. Its Jan. 1, 1963, figure was 20,093,000 compared with 20,205,000 a year previously.
