

Report on Migrant Program Given At Meeting of Women's Association

By Mrs. Wilson Witt

NEWELL HEIGHTS—Women's association of the Adrian Community church met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Verl Bishop. Co-hostesses were Mrs. John Packwood and Mrs. LeRoy Bennett.

Mrs. Packwood led devotionals and Mrs. Gail Winn told of the program on migrant work.

Those from Newell Heights attending were Mrs. Tina Schiemer, Mrs. Elvin Worden, Mrs. R. D. McKinley and Mrs. Marie Moore.

Patty Jo, Judy May and Buddy Ray, children of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Simpson, spent Saturday visiting in the Alfred Simpson home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Judd had lunch Thursday with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Overstreet in Boise.

Mrs. Marie Moore was a Mother's day dinner guest in the K. I. Peterson home at Adrian.

Attends Luncheon in Boise

Mrs. M. O. Judd attended a Saturday Book club luncheon served by Mrs. J. P. Dunaway and daughter, Mrs. Mardon Talbot at Boise.

Delta Kappa Gamma sorority met at the grade school in Adrian Friday evening with 28 members in attendance. Hostesses were the Mes. Mary Weir, Marie Moore, Anna Pratt, Charles Newbill, Robert Long and Robert Maggard. Mrs. Johnnie Eason and Susie of Homedale and Stevie Love were Mother's day dinner guests in the Ray Simpson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Simpson and family were Sunday afternoon visitors in the Harvey Love home.

Mother's day dinner guests at the M. L. Judd home were her mother, Mrs. Olive Judd of Parma, Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Judd and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud McDermott and family of Ontario were Saturday afternoon visitors of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. McDermott.

Mrs. Perkins Returns Home

Dan Perkins of Orovida, Nev., arrived Saturday and visited at the Louis Pratt home. He returned to Orovida Sunday accompanied by his wife, Anita, who had been recuperating at the home of her parents following recent surgery.

Mrs. Bill McKelvy of Caldwell visited Friday afternoon with Mrs. Anita Perkins at the Louis Pratt home.

Frank Pratt of Nampa was a Sunday dinner guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pratt.

Student Breaks Arm

Mrs. Leon Chamberlain of Newell Heights, Mrs. Ernest Seuell of Big Bend and Mrs. Carl Piercy of Kingman Kolony accompanied 44 Adrian junior band students on a trip to Boise last Saturday morning. The pupils took sack lunches and ate in the park. On their return trip they stopped at Nampa where they went skating and bowling. Carolyn Ward had the misfortune of falling while skating and broke her arm.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leedy accompanied by Mrs. Lydia Worden were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Leedy at Huntington. The boys who stay in the Leedy home visited their parents in Weiser and Ontario over the weekend.

Mrs. Bill McKelvy and four daughters of Caldwell visited Friday afternoon at the Thelma Hammon home. Mrs. McKelvy will be remembered as the former Charlene Harris, former editor of Newell Heights.

Picnic at Farewell Bend

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glenn and family, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blackburn of Nyssa, went to Farewell Bend park near Huntington Sunday for a picnic dinner. Other relatives attending were Mr. and Mrs. Loise Boren and Mrs. Willette Vaughn of Durkee, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bennett and family of Big Bend.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fenn and family were Monday dinner guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Savage at Nyssa.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Pollman of Prescott, Wash., visited Sunday afternoon with her mother, Mrs. Lydia Worden, at the Ray Leedy home in Huntington.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. McKinley had Mother's day dinner in Boise and later visited her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Russell McKinley. They also took a drive to Idaho City.

Mark Kimura spent Monday and Tuesday with the Eugene Pratt family while his parents accompanied the Adrian senior class on a trip to Idaho City.

Editor of Changing Times Magazine Gives Pointers on Used Car Buying

A used car, carefully picked, probably can give the most transportation per dollar, according to Changing Times, the Kiplinger magazine. But, the magazine cautions, the used car buyer should take extra care to avoid buying a "lemon."

"Keep in mind that every used car will have some flaws," the magazine notes. "The idea is to knock out cars with major defects or with so many minor ones that it won't pay to fix them up." As an aid to used car buyers, an article in the current issue suggests the following check list to help eliminate unworthy cars:

Suggestions Listed

1. Check all glass for pitting or cracking. Replacement can be costly.
2. Look over the body from an angle for rippled surfaces that indicate body work has been done.
3. Probe along the bottom edge of the body with your fingers. Dimpled or pitted spots indicate rusting, which will spread and can require costly repairs.
4. Check for hard-to-close or sagging doors. They point to poor adjustment or damage to frame.
5. Check all door and window hardware and operate locks and latches.
6. Check interior for excessive wear or abuse. Speedometers are often turned back to cover up high mileage. Worn pedal pads, sagging or broken seat springs or threadbare floor mats provide more accurate clues. (If the item has been replaced, be especially wary.)
7. Press down lightly on the brake pedal. If it sinks to the floor with little resistance, there may be a leak in the hydraulic system.
8. With front wheels pointed straight, rotate the steering wheel. If it turns more than two inches before the tires start to move, there may be a worn steering gear.
9. Move the car back and forth for fresh water or oil leaks on the ground.
10. Check the transmission. For cars with automatic shift, put the drive selector in all positions with the motor running and listen for unusual noises. For straight stick, press the clutch pedal lightly by hand. If you meet no pressure after two inches of free play, the clutch either needs adjustment or is wearing out.
11. Run the motor and see whether the exhaust emits more than the usual amount of smoke. Heavy blue smoke could mean worn piston rings.
12. While the motor is idling, check the lights, turn signals, horn and windshield wipers.
13. Drive the car over a hilly, well-traveled route to test its ride and general handling.

C. Steffens Attends Idaho Science Meet At College in Nampa

Charles Steffens, Ontario high school chemistry and physics instructor, attended the fifth annual session of Idaho Academy of Science held April 27 at Northwest Nazarene college in Nampa.

The meeting attracted scientists from the entire state of Idaho and Eastern Oregon. Purpose of the academy is to diffuse scientific knowledge among those engaged in various departments of science, including medicine, and to publish reports of scientific research.

The session was attended by one hundred and nineteen members. Some of the lectures were open to the public.

Steffens stated that the Idaho Academy of Science has sponsored several science and mathematics institutes and in-service training courses for qualified high school teachers, through National Science Foundation grants.

Science and mathematics teaching methods are undergoing a transition nationally at the present time and a new philosophy is bringing about new approaches to instruction, Steffens said. High school teachers are being trained now to be confident in themselves which will lead the trend in the transition of conventional methods to the newer approach in science and mathematics instruction.

FIFTH GRADE 4-H CLUB STUDIES HEALTH, SAFETY

Recent meetings were held in Mrs. Hazel Lane's fifth grade classroom by members of the Happy Health club. President Lissa Nishitani presided during the sessions.

4-H and flag pledges were led by Warren Farmer, Margie McCosh and Eva Klinkenberg. Roll call was answered with subjects pertaining to the lesson of the day.

Students studied posture, safety and foods for health. They drew posters showing proper posture and safety measures including safety in the home, on the streets, on highways, while swimming, hunting and playing.

Nyissan Participates In Naval Exercise On USS Canberra

Thomas L. Lewis, fire control technician second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Lewis of route 1, Nyssa, recently took part in a large-scale naval exercise in the Mediterranean while serving aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Canberra.

The exercise was held April 2-3 and involved 26 ships of the Sixth Fleet, America's major element of seapower in the European area. Dubbed REGEX 63, the operation was an air defense and submarine training exercise aimed at strengthening the combined force of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

The American forces were led by the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise. Air units from England, Italy, Greece and Turkey also participated.
