

Adrian School Officials Explain Why Bond Proposal Is Being Resubmitted

We as administrators and Board of Directors of Adrian School District No. 61 would like to present to the people of the Adrian School area some of the reasons why we are asking for the same bond proposal to be resubmitted on June 11, 1963.

First and foremost, we are short of classroom space at the elementary level and we will use the recreation room for a classroom for the 1963-64 school year and will close the cafeteria if another room is needed for the 1964-65 year. This is very likely, due to the enrollment trends.

In our proposal we show two new elementary classrooms, to go with two gained from the present cafeteria area; this would give us 16 rooms for the elementary. We could then use the recreation room for its original purpose.

We would also like to explain why we feel the cafeteria in the proposal could be justified.

First, if it is not included, we would need to add two additional rooms to the proposal to take the place of the cafeteria. The old cafeteria was not very adequate, especially the kitchen and its location.

With this new proposal we would have a room large enough to serve not only as a cafeteria but also usable for public gatherings, a room built so people could better hear the performance. This area would have an adequate stage, which besides being used for stage productions could be used for noon-time activities and could accommodate the wrestling program now being carried on in the high school science room.

The dressing room under the stage would be for the girls' P. E. program and with the large room we could then have an area that would separate the boys' P. E. and girls' P. E. from junior high through high school.

This proposal also included two rooms in this new addition to be used for high school instruction. One would be used for the commercial department and the other one used for the social studies. The present social studies room would be used, part to add to the library and the balance to add to the office and to provide other needed improvements, sick room, book and guidance office.

The biggest single item in the proposal is the boiler room to heat the entire grade school and the new addition. This would cost over $30,000 of the amount proposed.

The present bonded indebtedness of $36,000 will be paid off in the next three years. This proposal would increase the taxes about six mills but after three years this would only mean about 2½ more than we are now paying.

Of course there will be more costs involved due to addition of teachers. However, these will have to be acquired whether we have the addition or not as we would be using the recreation room and cafeteria and doing without some space so badly needed.

We hope that you as patrons will support us in this effort to better our school.

conservation of state-owned lands.

State lands are generally of two geographical classes:

1. Intermingled lands: Sec. 16-36 of each township scattered throughout the counties of Eastern Oregon.

2. Blocked lands: State lands comprising from two to 20 sections which are fenced and comprise an economical unit to manage and improve.

May Exchange Lands

After classification of these lands as to their best use under the multiple use theory, the state will have authority to exchange lands with the Bureau of Land Management or others to combine related lands for better management.

House Bill 1399 provides the first progressive step in land management in the history of the state lands in Oregon. After 20 years under this policy I can foresee improvement in the production capacity of state lands; hence increased volume, more manageable units, greater grazing and wildlife usage, increased revenues to the state, all for nominal pressure on the general fund, financed by the land lessee, involving no great outlay by the state for equipment, manpower and expense of a state-financed project.

The procedure will also eliminate the need for crash programs of range rehabilitation and huge dollar appropriations as is currently being provided by Congress for the improvement of federal lands.

Auxiliary Ladies To Elect Officers

Disabled American Veterans and auxiliary members of Border chapter 11 met May 8 at the community house in Parma.

The business session was conducted by Commander Velma Higgins. Loren Cook, deputy commander, and Clara Draper, department adjutant of Boise, told of the auxiliary's achievements during April. Cook received an award for more than 1000 hours of volunteer work at the Veterans' administration center in the Idaho capital city.

Mrs. Esther Brown of Nyssa joined the group. Mrs. Higgins was able to attend the meeting after an absence of some time due to recent surgery. Martha Behrman was unable to attend the May 8 meeting because of illness. Gertrude Law took her place as senior vice president.

Border chapter 11 auxiliary will meet again June 14 at the community house when election of officers will be held. All members are urged to attend and take a prospective member.

New Books Listed At County Library

New books going into circulation Saturday, June 1, at Malheur county library include the following:

"The Hidden Worlds of Polynesia" by Robert C. Suggs. The chronicle of an archaeological expedition to Nuku Hiva in the Marquesas Islands.

"A Search for Civilization" by John U. Nef. Essays that examine the present crisis in world order.

"Madame Castet's Lodger" by Frances Parkinson Keyes. A biographical novel that tells the story of Pierre Beauregard, the Confederate general who fired the opening shot at Fort Sumter.

"Nobody Told Me How" by Mira Michal. An amusing account of the author's experiences as ambassador, first in London and later in New York, where her husband was attached to the U. N.

"The Indian Traders" by Frank McNitt. An account of Indian traders in the southwestern U. S. in the 100-year period between the establishment of Bent's Fort and the abandonment of trading posts in the early 1930's.

"Introduction to Comparative Philosophy" by P. T. Raju. A comparative study of the main philosophies of the world.

"The United States and the Common Market" by Don D. Humphrey. The author reviews the important and controversial impact of the Common Market upon U. S. trade policy, not only as regards America's trade with Europe but also with the underdeveloped nations as well.

in history it became economically possible to take sagebrush away as a competitor, thus improving the grass cover.

Land prices have risen, and since all the land is either owned by the federal government, the state or private citizens, uses for every acre of land now become more important and essential. The interim committee studied many possibilities, including sale, improvement by the state, contracting with the Bureau of Land Management for improvement, etc. The decision finally reached is House Bill 1399.

Bill Provides State Control

When enacted into law, this bill would provide the necessary authority for the State Land board to contract with leases for the improvement of state lands, either by use of the lessee's own money or by borrowing money from the state, properly secured. The state may protect lands from fire and pests. It may reseed or reforest said lands and do all things necessary for the protection, management, utilization and
