What Kind of a Nut Is HE?

He wants to run his own business.
 He wants to select his own doctor.
 He wants to make his own bargains.
 He wants to buy his own insurance.
 He wants to select his own reading matter.
 He wants to provide for his own old age.
 He wants to make his own contracts.
 He wants to select his own charities.
 He wants to educate his children as he wishes.
 He wants to make his own investments.
 He wants to select his own friends.
 He wants to provide his own recreation.
 He wants to compete freely in the market.
 He wants to grow by his own efforts.
 He wants to profit from his own errors.
 He wants to take part in competition.
 He wants to be a man of good will.

What kind of a nut is he? He's an American who understands and believes in the Declaration of Independence, that's what kind!

Aren't you glad you are too? And don't you wonder why so many of our fellow Americans are trying so hard to destroy the kind of life that has made us the aim and the envy of every other people on earth?

The question is: What kind of nuts are they?

IT'S YOUR LAW

By Oregon State Bar

YOUR RIGHTS IN COURT

The average person has only a vague idea concerning his rights in court. When unjustly charged with an offense, even a simple traffic violation, he is prone to feel that all is lost. Our laws, however, provide a number of protections to insure against conviction of the innocent.

Probably the most fundamental right of the accused is summarized in the well-known adage, "Every man is innocent until proved guilty." It is up to the prosecuting authorities to prove that the person on trial is guilty—and not the obligation of the person accused to prove that he is innocent.

Duty of Citizens to Testify

Another important protection is the right to have a witness whose testimony you may need subpoenaed to appear in court and testify. It is the duty of every citizen to testify if he has information important to a lawsuit and is called upon to do so. The courts can and do enforce attendance in court and the giving of testimony.

Certain other safeguards are valuable to you. A person may refuse to testify in any proceeding if he has a reasonable belief that his testimony could be used as a basis of a criminal proceeding against him. This does not mean, of course, that confession given freely and voluntarily cannot be used in evidence. But it does mean that an accused cannot be compelled to take the witness stand. Nor can his failure to testify be commented upon by the prosecution.

Right to Counsel Assured

These are but a few examples of the numerous safeguards our courts provide to protect the innocent against false accusations of crime. But many of these rights would be valueless without the assistance of a lawyer, who has been schooled in legal principles and rules of statute or decision involved, to invoke these rights. The "right to counsel" must be granted to every accused person brought before any court in the state. In capital cases, if an accused person cannot afford to pay for legal counsel and desires it, the court must appoint a lawyer to represent him.

Applies to All Court Cases

Every person charged with an infraction of the law has the right to consult counsel before making any plea. This applies to cases in every court—including justice of the peace courts, municipal courts, traffic courts and district courts. It does little good to consult a lawyer after you have pleaded guilty and paid the fine, for then the damage has been done.

The courts are open to you any time one of your legal rights has been denied or any of your property has been unlawfully taken. This is one of your most precious rights. The courts are the only peaceful means of enforcing your rights.
