

Collins, Ennor Wedding Plans Told by Parents

MISS PATRICIA COLLINS Plans September Nuptials

The engagement of Miss Patricia Collins to James Ennor has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fay H. Collins of route 2, Parma. Ennor is a son of Mrs. Iola Ennor of Ontario and the late Tom Ennor.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Parma high school and attended Link's business school in Boise. She is employed by Idaho-Oregon Fruit and Vegetable association in Parma.

Her fiance attended Colorado university at Boulder and also the College of Idaho at Caldwell. He is presently employed as assistant manager of Alexander's store in Ontario.

A September 28 wedding is being planned by the couple.

Pre-Nuptial Shower At Burton Residence Honors Dolores Duus

The first of several pre-nuptial showers planned for Miss Dolores Duus was held July 16 at the home of Mrs. E. K. Burton in Ontario. The honoree, daughter of V. W. Duus of Nyssa, and Gary Halcom of Ontario plan an Aug. 17 wedding.

Mrs. Burton and Mrs. Jacob Simmons of Emmett, life-long friends of the bride-elect, invited other friends who extended good wishes and gave Dolores bits of advice over coffee and cake.

Refreshments were served from a table centered with an arrangement of pink and white blossoms in a silver bowl, an heirloom belonging to Mrs. Burton. Mrs. J. H. Halcom, mother of the bridegroom-to-be, presided at the coffee service.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Marie Conklin of Ontario and Mrs. Angie Cook of Nyssa. Each guest helped to compose a wedding story for Miss Duus to place in her memory book.

Among guests were Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Sam McConnell of Nyssa; Mrs. Seward Dunn, Mrs. J. A. Ritter, Mrs. Conklin and Mrs. Halcom of Ontario; Mrs. Loren Halcom of Payette and Mrs. Jim Armstrong of New Plymouth.

Services to Be Held Thursday Morning For Mrs. McCormick

Funeral services for Sarah Elizabeth Davis McCormick will be conducted at 10 o'clock this morning, July 25, 1963, at Lienkaemper chapel. Officiating minister will be the Rev. Charles Johnson of Adrian Free Methodist church.

Mrs. McCormick succumbed Monday at Malheur Memorial hospital. She was born June 29, 1881, near Fairbury, Neb., to Emmons and Harriet Elizabeth Davis and was the youngest of five children.

She grew to womanhood on a farm near Fairbury and taught school there for 10 years. In 1914 she moved to Colorado and homesteaded near Seibert where she taught school for another three years.

It was there that she was united in marriage to William McCormick in 1916, and to this union three children were born, all of whom survive. They are Judson McCormick of Boise, Mrs. Celia Johnson of Powell, Wyo., and Cecil McCormick of Adrian.

In 1951 she and her husband sold their farm and came to Oregon to reside near their son, Cecil. Mr. McCormick succumbed in 1955.

Mrs. McCormick joined the Presbyterian church in Fairbury when a young woman and although she had attended other churches during her lifetime, her membership remained with that church. Members of her family say she was devoted to them and the Lord and those remaining will miss her living testimony.

In addition to her two sons and daughter, she is survived by seven grandchildren, including Rodney and Phillip Johnson; Judson, Jr., Robert, Ronald, Carol and Brian McCormick.

Three brothers, Jabez, Robert and Jason and an infant sister preceded her in death. Interment will be made in the Nyssa cemetery under direction of Lienkaemper funeral home. Pallbearers will be George Farr, Phillip Bockus, David Haylett, Clarence, William and Joe Nelson.

Work Smarter . . . Not Harder

By BERNICE STRAWN, Extension Home Management Specialist

MANY PARENTS ARE CONCERNED because their children seem to like dessert better than their vegetables. Mrs. Roberta Frasier, family life specialist for OSU Extension service, suggests that if this is true in your family, take a look at what you've been teaching.

If you've used dessert as a reward for eating all the food on his plate or all his vegetables a child will value it highly.

If this isn't what you want to teach—take a different approach.

Let him have his portion of dessert whether he eats all his vegetables or not. This will de-emphasize it. He will be better off in the long run, especially if dessert is well selected.

A HOME ECONOMIST with a large vacuum cleaner company, Eleanor Delany, visited the OSU campus recently. She says some homemakers complain that their upright cleaner doesn't pick up dirt or lint. Often all that's needed is a new belt or adjustment of the brushes.

A service call costs about $5. But you can often save this by taking a look at the underside of the cleaner.

If the belt is broken, get a new one for a few cents. Belts get snapped when sharp objects are picked up. If the brushes are worn down, the instruction book (hope you can find it!) will tell you how to adjust them. Don't forget, too, cleaners of all types pick up more dirt when the bag is clean. Change it often.

BARBECUE CLEAN-UP may not be as glamorous as cooking and eating, but there are ways to cut it short.

Pick up grills and spits with asbestos mittens as soon as cooking is finished and wipe quickly with a large cloth soaked in cold water. This will remove most of the grease and burned food particles. Give it a final washing later in soapy water.

Dump left-over coals in a bucket of water or put in a tightly covered can to smother them. These coals can be reused.

You'll need soap or detergent, but nature will provide the scouring agent. Add small pebbles to suds and shake to loosen food stuck to deep jars or pots.

Smudge on the outside of cooking utensils comes off with a mixture of sand and suds rubbed with a cloth. As a preventive, you might also rub a bar of soap on the outside of the pan before cooking.

For ideas on foods to cook outdoors, write for our free Extension bulletin, "Outdoor Cookery for the Family."

NOT ENOUGH TIME! Some people manage to find reasonable solutions to this problem.

For instance, one of the world's greatest orators was born with a weak voice and lisped. To overcome his handicaps he practiced with pebbles in his mouth, recited while running uphill and rehearsed before a mirror to correct his gestures.

If perseverance brought success to him, it can also help us manage time. We could analyze and weigh the jobs we try to do in a day. Are they all necessary? Should we learn to say "no?"

We don't expect to have luxuries on a limited income without careful planning. Likewise, living on 24 hours a day requires a time budget—and the will to stick to it.

SLATE and FLAGSTONE PATIOS become dull with wear and weather. Use a penetrating sealer designed for exterior use. This will give luster and make it look like new.

Scrub the sealer into the slate or flagstone with a flat brush. Wipe in and take off surplus with a non-linting cloth.

This finish is moisture resistant, forms a tough coating and helps prevent sanding off of mortar between the pieces.

These surfaces can be scrubbed with soap and water; don't need waxing.

OUTDOOR ENTHUSIASTS . . .

If you get tar or pitch on your clothes, treat spots first before tossing them in the washer.

Sponge stain with turpentine. You can also use nail polish remover or acetone to remove the spots.

FORMER NYSSANS VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Sagen, who moved from Nyssa in 1942 and now reside in Hermiston, were Saturday overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Gann. The Sagens were enroute to her sister's funeral in Colorado.

Why I Hate Advertising

My name's Johnson. I'm a taxpaying American citizen and I hate advertising.

Take toothpaste. Since I was a pup I used the same toothpaste. So my wife reads ads about toothpaste that stops decay. Nothing will do but we use this new stuff. Sure, the kids don't have cavities any more but this new toothpaste sure doesn't taste to me like the old days. Thanks to advertising.

Take washing machines and dryers and all that jazz. These women read ads about saving work and time so they got appliances all over the place. I figure they haven't got enough to do anyway. Nuts to advertising.

If you want to get right down to it, take all this advertising my competition runs. These characters run ads with prices so low I got to run my own ads and practically give the stuff away. It's the only way I can get people in to buy my stuff. Advertising is a heck of a way to run a business.

Advertising is for the birds. It gives the customer all the breaks. Speaking for myself, the only time I ever read it is when I'm going to buy something and need to find out where I can get the best buy.

The only time it pays to be advertised at is when you're going to buy something.
