COUPLE VISITS NYSSANS; SEE PLACES OF INTEREST

Visiting recently with Mrs. Emmer Davis were her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Davis of Dallas, Ore. They also visited his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Share who accompanied them on a trip to Silver City, DeLamar and Dewey, all old mining towns.

The two couples traveled the old freight route over which Share's grandfather drove a stage coach in 1874 and also saw the site of the Sinker Creek Indian massacre of 1850.

Another sightseeing trip took them up the Owyhee river past the dam to Cherry Creek resort. Davis and Share had rounded up wild horses years ago in that area. They also traveled to Jordan Valley where Mrs. Davis had lived when a small girl.

Mrs. Davis, a rock collector, found a number of specimens in the Silver City area which she took with her to add to her large collection. Davis, who was seriously injured in an accident a year ago, stood the trip very well, according to his wife who submitted this report of their visit to this area.

to lighten your laundry day load

These women are spinning discs on integrating machines in El Paso Natural Gas Company's measurement department. The object isn't to make music, but to read meter records and record the amount of natural gas that is sent through the pipelines to serve customers in 11 Western states. It is a complicated but efficient process, keeping track of more than 65,000 charts a month. You can discover, easily, how a natural gas dryer can lighten your laundry day load. Simply call your retail gas distribution company.* And remember, when you are enjoying the many benefits of America's most modern fuel, that there is a trained team of thousands of El Paso Natural employees—men and women—who are keeping the supplies flowing, keeping an important industry functioning with maximum efficiency. Why? Because service to you is their motivating force.
