

State Board of Health Director Urges To Get Immunization for Influenza

Oregon can expect an epidemic of Asian flu this fall or winter, the State Board of Health warned today.

Oregon and the west coast escaped last year's epidemic and flu follows a pattern of moving into new areas the next year. That makes the west coast a prime target for Asian flu this year, said Dr. H. Grant Skinner, director of the board of health's epidemiology section.

It is recommended that everyone get flu "shots" now and especially those in certain "high risk" groups. Influenza is particularly dangerous to persons suffering from chronic ailments such as heart, lung and kidney disorders, and to pregnant women. Persons over 45, particularly those over 65, should also be immunized.

"Long experience proves that these groups run the greatest risk of severe illness or death if they contract influenza," Dr. Skinner explained.

Immunization should begin right away and be completed by mid-December, according to Dr. Skinner. There is a two-week delay in the development of antibodies which give the protection, so it is important that the individual be vaccinated well before exposure to the virus.

Persons who have been vaccinated previously and have received yearly boosters need only one additional dose, it was observed. Those who have not been previously vaccinated should have two doses, about a month apart, Dr. Skinner concluded.

After graduation from agricultural school at Brookings, S.D., he spent the remainder of his life with varied activities in that field.

Officers Collins and Grover answered the call and took the man to city hall. It appeared he had been drinking, but they decided he was also very ill and called for an ambulance and for Dr. K. A. Upon the arrival of Dr. Danford the man had died. Dr. David Sarazin, medical examiner for this district, was called in to make out the death certificate. Cause of death had not been determined at Journal press time but no marks of violence were visible on the man. A post mortem has been set for today (Thursday).

The man came here from French Glen (Harney county) about three weeks ago and had spent part of that time with his brother, Clyde, route 2, Nyssa, but had been rooming at the Western hotel three days prior to his death.
