The 1963 Tax Measure Is an Increase
Of $60 Million Over 1961-1963.

1. It imposes a tax on a tax.
(Federal income tax not deductible.)
2. Provides no guarantee for property tax relief.
(Ever see property taxes go down?)
3. It taxes most heavily those least able to pay.
(Families, low-income citizens and retired people.)
4. Every person with $500 annual income would pay $5 minimum tax.
5. Only one-sixth of the increase was earmarked for local education.
(The governor can't touch basic school support. The other $40,000,000.00 is for increased "services.")

We don't feel we should vote an increased income tax to protect ourselves against some other tax we might get. (Proponents of the measure threaten "a worse tax" if we defeat this one.) It is a fact that local property taxes cannot be raised beyond the 6% limitation without a vote of the people. Any tax measure passed by the legislature can be referred to a vote. We do not need a tax increase. Government should economize . . . householders, businessmen and farmers do.
