Attendance Urged At Portland Meeting On Heart Education

October 21, 1964

To the Editor:

Women of this area, I feel, are indeed fortunate to have an opportunity to hear the world-famous cardiologist, Dr. Paul Dudley White, when he will address a "women only" audience Friday, Nov. 6, in the Portland Memorial Coliseum.

Dr. White will tell women all about diet, exercise, nutrition, sex, heredity, smoking, stress and many of the other factors which may cause heart attacks.

His message will be of particular importance since 56 percent of all deaths in Oregon are due to heart and circulatory diseases. Fifty-five percent of all male deaths in Oregon are due to heart problems, especially in the ages between 45 and 65.

If we are to reduce these tragic figures, it will be important that all wives in the community know as much as possible about how they can help prevent their husbands and fathers from dying of this cause.

I hope every Nyssa-Adrian area woman who possibly can will attend the meeting in Portland. It will start at 12 noon, with all types of exhibits on research. Dr. White will start his talk at 1 o'clock, followed by a panel of experts answering questions.

In Nyssa we have a very fine "Hearts and Husbands" committee comprising Mrs. George (Mary) Sallee, Mrs. K. A. (Marjorie) Danford, Mrs. Vic (Sue) Marshall, Mrs. Lewis (Violet) Riggs and Dr. K. A. Danford.

They are helping to stress the importance of this free educational program. Anyone who would like to join in a carload caravan to Portland may contact me or any other member of the local committee.

Gate City Journal
 Nyssa, Oregon

Dear Sirs:

Enclosed find $4 for another year's subscription to my hometown paper. I really enjoy reading it and look forward to each Saturday when it arrives.

I think my vacation is about over and I will soon be back among my many friends. It is hard to stay away from a lively little place, after living there for 50 years.

I was through Nyssa this summer and stopped over for about a week. I was on my way home from a fishing trip to McCall. Saw quite a few of my friends and Eagle brothers and attended an aerie meeting while there.

I see by the Journal that they have hauled some of my dearest friends up on the hill—of course, deaths continue all over the world.

I see the Crazy Day promotion went over bigger than ever before. I should have been there—I wouldn't have had to pretend. Tell all the Nyssa folks that fishing is good on the Umpqua.

Yours as before,
 CLAUD H. WILLSON

'Youth Crusade' at Assembly of God To Feature Gospel Ventriloquist

Victor Etienne, a gospel ventriloquist since age 11, and his wooden dummy, Terry, will appear nightly, except Saturday and Mondays from Nov. 1 through 13 at the Assembly of God church in Nyssa.

According to Pastor Donald J. Smith, Etienne has traveled extensively throughout the United States, conducting camp meetings and youth crusades. He has been approached by the entertainment field to sell his talents to the world, but has chosen to use them in the gospel ministry.

Youth crusade activities will include Bible stories, object lessons, song and scripture learning, special music, skits, chalk drawings, gospel magic, audience participation, prizes and surprises, treats and many other special features.

Meeting time each evening will be 8 o'clock and there will be no admission charge. "Everyone is welcome and urged to bring their friends," Pastor Smith added.

New Meeting Times Announced for Study At Methodist Church

A new meeting time is announced for the church-wide study this week and next at the Nyssa Methodist church, according to the Rev. Ralph Lawrence. The study, "Christian Responsibility and New Nations," will meet at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 1, one-half hour earlier than before, and on Nov. 8 the session will be at 7 p.m.

The Nov. 1 session will feature a motion picture film, "The Only War We Seek," and a presentation on foreign aid and the United Nations.

The Nov. 8 session will be a special one to which the entire church and community are invited, including young people. A film, "New Faces of Africa," a book review on "This Rocket Called Freedom" by Karen Smith; and a report on "The Rich Nations and the Poor Nations" by the Rev. Lawrence will be featured, together with African refreshments.

For those preferring a daytime hour, duplicate sessions are held at 9:30 Tuesday mornings.

Sunday Sermon Topic Told

"How to Vote on Tuesday" will be topic of the sermon by the Rev. Lawrence next Sunday at the 11 a.m. worship service in Nyssa Methodist church. The minister will also lead a discussion on "Policies, Personalities and Parties" at 9:45 a.m. as part of the series of lessons on "The Protestant and Politics" for young adults.

From This Corner...

By T. M. B.

One can always start a conversation about the weather—it may not last long or make much sense, but there's practically always a response of some sort.

This may not make much sense to natives but it is impossible for me not to get enthused over the weather we have here. (And I'm not from Iowa or one of the other north central states.) We have a maximum of sunshine throughout the year, little stormy weather and the air is never muggy.

And this has been one of the most pleasant falls it has been my fortune to live through. The farmers are rolling beet trucks, some fortunates have left for the elk hunting that opens Saturday, and others are getting in some wonderful pheasant hunting.

If we sell this area short as a location for industry, our biggest neglect is not selling our climate!

Halloween is Saturday and many a child is looking forward to taking the paper sack around for the "treats" that replace the "tricks." Most will receive them graciously and most children will be polite. . . . Some few will be greedy and want to take a handful, and there are always a few who want some extra for the brother or sister at home.

But it can be a lot of fun to grown-ups to have them inside, see their costumes and tease them a little. Sometimes they may sing a song for you.

But this festive time can also be dangerous for these kiddies. . . . They don't see too well with masks on, and frequently the garb may be much oversized and conducive to accidents. We would call your attention to Fangen Floral's annual ad in this issue of the Journal telling of the danger for the kiddies and asking care by the adults.

This is a real nice act of Bob and Mabel each year.

ELECTION COMMENTS

It will be a relief for the election to be over, regardless of the outcome. We suppose every paper is flooded with political literature—much sent out not to inform you but to try to confuse you.

We get more than enough each week to fill a 12-page paper and much of it is unusable and much should be paid advertising and darn little news.

Choosing officials should be important in all governments but sometimes you are called upon to pass on measures that do not involve names or political parties. We have four such measures on the ballot Tuesday that should merit your serious consideration.

All eligible voters should have received the Voters' Pamphlet by now and be familiar with these measures that would amend the state constitution.

Number One would abolish the death penalty for first degree murder and make it life imprisonment. I have never quite found justification for man sitting in judgment that could take another's life. Will vote YES.

Number Two would permit the leasing of real property up to as long as 20 years. Better terms should be secured for a longer period of lease, thereby saving taxpayers' money. Will vote YES.

Number Three would give the state a monopoly on the Workmen's Compensation system and make it compulsory to insure under the state system. For some reason we have never been able to fathom, some factions of the unions desire this and got it on the ballot. It would also add a lot of workers not now covered and add much to the farmers' expenses. We believe this is a matter to be decided by the legislature after proper study. Will vote NO.

Number Four would prohibit commercial fishing for salmon and steelhead in the inland rivers and streams as well as boundary rivers. We will vote NO on this for various reasons. . . .

Washington does not prohibit it on the Columbia river and we would not be saving the fish for the sportsmen. . . . Astoria, Ore., depends considerably upon the industry located there canning salmon. . . . and we think there is a limit to what should be provided for the sportsman at the expense of other segments of our people. (I'm an avid fisherman and hunter.)

We of Nyssa and the surrounding communities might liken our case in this manner. . . . Should pheasant hunters decide they didn't want sugar beets grown here and the factory removed because once the beets were removed the ground was bare and provided no cover for the ringnecks.

Let's help Astoria and the other towns concerned keep their industry.

We'll not comment on county and state candidates, although good government begins at the local level and they, too, are important.

VOTE TUESDAY!

Tuesday is election day throughout all the 50 states of our nation. Your choices will determine largely who shall run your city, county, state and national governments. If you have not informed yourself on the candidates you should do so now. Study their records to see if they have kept their campaign promises, check their experience and decide on their ability to do the job, and decide if they advocate what you want in your government.

You may have decided that you care little for either of the presidential candidates and think it not worthwhile to vote. This is a mistake—choose the better of what you consider the two evils—but vote! Otherwise, you are letting those who vote choose your leaders. By doing this, if things turn out worse than you anticipated, you have no gripe.

On the national scene you have a distinct choice. If you believe the government leaders can decide better than you how much money should be taken from you, how it should be divided and to whom it should go—and, if you believe government should become larger and provide medicare, food, shelter, education to all people regardless of need, ability or effort on their part—then vote for Johnson and Humphrey.

LBJS's philosophy is quite clear and may well be summed up in a speech he made to a gathering of old people in his White House speech of Jan. 15, 1964, when he said, "We are going to try to take all the money that we think is unnecessarily being spent and take it from the 'haves' and give it to the 'have-nots' who need it so much."

If, on the other hand, you believe government has become too large, that personal ambitions and responsibilities should still be important, and you wish to have a say in what charities you will support and to what extent, and if you still believe that, with God's help, you are important as an individual, then vote for Barry Goldwater and Bill Miller on the Republican ticket.

You may lose your vote and not support a winner but you will be helping our next president decide what the people want and help him gear the program for another four or eight years in that direction.

So, be an American citizen and vote Tuesday. Not every country permits this privilege and if we do not USE it we could LOSE it!

FREE!

Cascade's ALL-GAS rate (the lowest basic utility fuel rate in all the Northwest) makes it possible for natural gas users to actually operate a third appliance FREE! Here's how simple it is: If you have natural gas heating and a gas-fired water heater, add a gas range (or other major gas appliance) in your home and earn the lower ALL-GAS rate. The annual saving will PAY for fuel consumed by the added appliance. Want to hear more? Call the Cascade Man today...he has the facts!
