The Real Estate Broker's Commission

Mr. A listed his house for sale with B, a real estate broker, giving B an exclusive listing on the property for 60 days. The listing contract provided that B would be entitled to a six percent commission on the sale price when B produced a buyer who was ready, willing and able to purchase the property.

B advertised the property for sale. Mr. C answered B's ad and was taken to the house by B. C liked the house and had cash and was able to pay the $20,000 purchase price that A was asking.

The day after the broker showed C the house, C came back and asked A how long it would be before the exclusive listing with B would end. A told C the listing would expire in a week.

C then said that he would buy the house as soon as the listing expired if A would reduce the price by $600, or half of the amount of the $1200 commission that A would save by selling the house after the listing expired. A agreed to sell on those terms.

After the listing expired, A sold the house to C for $19,400 and told B nothing about it. Later B found out about the sale and sued A for the six percent commission.

Do you think B can win the suit for his commission?

The answer is that B can collect his commission. He earned it when he produced C, who was ready, willing and able to buy A's house. A and C could not cheat B of his commission merely by waiting until the listing on the house expired.

The court would require A to pay B the commission, and the fact that A reduced the purchase price by half of the amount of the commission would not change the result.

Fine Fall Weather Complicates Weed Controls in Crops

Sunny fall weather in Oregon is great for outdoor enthusiasts, but it can complicate weed control problems for the state's grain and seed crop growers.

Grain growers are cautioned against applying Karmex diuron for control of ryegrass in fall seeded wheat, oats and vetch until start of the rainy season. According to Rex Warren, extension farm crops specialist at Oregon State university, sunlight will cause rapid breakdown of the chemical, making it largely ineffective for weed control.

Although recommendations for Karmex application call for the material to be applied at planting time, Warren says trials at OSU have shown that application of Karmex can be delayed until a month after planting and it will still do the job.

Warren also cautions grass seed growers that herbicides IPC and CIPC cannot be applied to perennial grass seed crops after the calendar cut-off date, which is Oct. 20 for the fine fescues, Nov. 1 for orchardgrass, tall fescue bentgrass and blue grasses.

However, application of simazine, atrazine and similar materials for weed control in grass and seed crops should be delayed until the first rains. They should be applied while the weeds are in the seedling stage.

GUESTS IN BECK RESIDENCE

Weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Beck were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Stringham of Provo, Utah. Sunday visitors of the Becks were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beck and family of Burley, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Buxton of Boise, Mrs. Terry McGinnis and Jon, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Buxton, all of Caldwell.

Invocation was given by Clara Price and Master Tom Jones welcomed the guests to the meeting. He gave a short talk on aim and purpose of the grange.

George Bain Speaks to Group

George Bain, county agent, was main speaker and his talk was on agriculture in Oregon and Malheur county. He also furnished a tape recorder so that grange members could hear a message from National Master Herschell Newsome.

Reports were given on projects, social activities, community service and value of Grange insurance. Frank Sherwood, legislative chairman, gave a report on some of the improvements and changes that have taken place because of resolutions originating in the grange. Ellen Jones reported on the Cancer and Red Cross drives headed by Iva Adams and Marguerite Moss.

Second speaker of the evening was Miss Margery Morton who told about her experiences as a 4-H summer school student and what it meant to be sponsored by Oregon Trail Grange.

Visitors Attend Meeting

Among visitors in attendance were Robert Coble, state deputy, and Ensor Bush, county deputy, who were escorted to the master's chair. Wilbur Atherton, visiting master of Boulevard Grange, was recognized. Ira Price, Pomona master, reminded members of the Nov. 28 meeting of Pomona Grange at Vale.

Compulsory Monopoly Job-Injury Insurance Would HURT Employees-Consumers-Employers-YOU!

Vicious measure No. 3 would COMPEL ALL EMPLOYERS to buy job injury insurance from the state and only from the state. Injured employees would be COMPELLED to look only to the state for help and medical care payments. Competition and Freedom of Choice will be destroyed! HERE'S WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF VOTERS LET IT PASS!

1. THOUSANDS OF WORKERS WOULD LOSE BENEFITS THEY NOW HAVE. Many employers furnish better insurance programs than the state offers. These would be destroyed.
2. THOUSANDS WOULD PAY FOR INSURANCE THEY NOW GET FREE. Many employers pay for job-injury insurance for their workers. Under the monopoly, workers would be forced to pay part of the premium cost.
3. PERSONAL AND SPECIALIZED MEDICAL ATTENTION WOULD BE CUT DOWN. If employers are forced to insure with the state, 600,000 workers will become impersonal numbers in a state bureaucracy. State workers are already over-burdened. It will be impossible for the state to give insured workers personal or specialized attention under the huge monopoly.

4. THERE WILL BE A SLOW-DOWN IN CLAIM PAYMENTS. Competitive insurance pays claims in an average of two weeks from date of an accident. In Washington, where a partial monopoly exists, it takes 86 days to pay a claim! Imagine an injured worker's family being forced to wait almost 3 months for a check! WOULD YOU WANT THIS TO HAPPEN TO YOUR FAMILY?

STATE MEASURE NO. 3 IS A PIG-IN-A-POKE THAT WILL FAIL TO LIVE UP TO ITS PROMISES!

The Compulsory Insurance Monopoly Bill Would

- Increase Costs to Consumers and Taxpayers
- Eliminate Freedom of Choice in Job-Injury Insurance
- Hurt Free Enterprise
