Gate City Journal:

This last week a friend commented about my adjustment to old age. How nice it was that I had hobby interests and such to keep boredom away. But little does one realize, when active in trades, crafts or professions of some kind, that make one useful to society, how utterly lonely one can be when not able to take his place any more in his chosen field.

One simply must feel needed and of some use to society. There is no substitute for keeping one in a state of contentment.

Then there is such a thing as mental hygiene. It is a "must" for any serenity in old age. It pays off big to put aside all feeling and thoughts of past and present unpleasantness. Along the road of life there are so many pleasant, beautiful things, harmonies beyond expression. If we will just stop the wayward ramblings of our mind to take a look at them, there is no time left for gloom.

Yet again I must say, that one must in some way feel of use to society. Truly fortunate is the person who has a mental ability and training to serve fellow man as well as a trained physical ability. The infirmities of age may limit one's physical ability. Then

Many Guests Attend
Anniversary Events
At Christian Church

The Rev. Wallace Prowell reports a good attendance at the 25th anniversary observance held Sunday at the Nyssa Christian church. He states that visitors during the day included those from Baker, La Grande, Ontario and Vale, Oregon; Weiser, Payette, Caldwell, Nampa and Boise, Idaho.

Among out-of-town guests attending the activities were former Nyssans, the Dan Pennie family of Eugene and Mrs. Robert Dewey of Sutherlin. Also present for the occasion were four charter members of the church including William Teter of the Big Bend community, Dale Epler of Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hill of Nyssa.

A program presented during the dinner hour consisted of group singing and special selections by Mrs. LeRoy Barton (nee Irene Bibbey) of Vale, Miss Linda Ballou and Dan Pennie. Mrs. Hudson Robb gave a short history of the church.

Recordings of vocal numbers by Mary and Carol Pond, Linda Ballou and Bill Spitzer were also played during the afternoon.

Special speaker of the day was Peter Solomon of India. Pastor Prowell reports that his message was both challenging and inspiring.

Activities Reported
For Lutheran Church

Pastor John Milbrath has announced that Sunday, Oct. 3, will be rally day and the beginning of the fall Sunday school term. Classes will begin at 9:45 a.m. for youngsters three years of age through high school.

Sunday school theme for the year is "Life in Christ," and also topic of the sermon to be delivered at 11 a.m. by Pastor Milbrath.

Also beginning Sunday at Faith Lutheran is the lay school of religion, a special course for adults, which will be taught by Pastor Milbrath. Topic of the 36-week course is "The Mighty Acts of God."

Methodist Bishop, Former Pastor
To Participate in Sunday Services

The Rev. Ralph A. Lawrence announces that two special guests will be on hand next Sunday when Nyssa Methodist church celebrates its more than six decades of service to the community and dedicates its newly paid-for educational building.

Bishop A. Raymond Grant of Portland, who is in charge of the Portland area of the Methodist church, embracing Oregon, southern Idaho and Alaska, will preach during the 11 a.m. worship service and will direct the official act of dedication.

Also participating in the service will be the Revs. Paul L. Ludlow, pastor from 1955-64; Orville A. Coats, district superintendent; and Ralph A. Lawrence, present minister.

Bishop Grant is a graduate of Cornell college, Iowa, and Boston university School of Theology. Before his election as bishop in 1952, he was pastor of the First Methodist church in Sacramento, Calif., for 16 years and prior to that served churches in Iowa and Minnesota.

He is a member of the Masonic lodge and Shrine organization. He is current president of the board of Alaska Methodist university at Anchorage and head of the general board of Christian social concerns of the Methodist Church, Washington, D.C.

EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

I take this opportunity to thank women of the Christian church, the Rev. Wallace Prowell and other friends for their many kindnesses expressed in thought and deed following the death of my beloved husband, Glen Osborn. I also want to thank members of the Royal Arch Masons, Golden Rule lodge 147, AF&AM, active and honorary pallbearers for their part in the funeral service.

Special thanks go to my brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Capper, for taking me into their home and for all kindnesses extended to me.

—Mrs. Dulce Osborn.
