LETTERS To the Editor

To the Editor:

I am perplexed by the strange reasoning, almost as though they have a suicide complex, which causes the majority of liberals, or moderates as they usually call themselves, to fear and viciously attack a group such as the John Birch society, and at the same time show little or no concern for the danger to all of us from the Communist conspiracy.

The John Birch society is a patriotic organization primarily concerned with the preservation of our constitutional government.

Communism is a self-called revolutionary movement, whose purposes can be achieved only by the forcible overthrow of the extant social order.

The Communists, who have already seized control of over 40 percent of the world's population, are actively engaged in trying to bring about the downfall of the countries still free, especially the United States.

They have murdered millions of people in the countries they rule and will kill millions more if they attain their goal of a Communist world and the enslavement of all mankind.
