

Upsilon Chapter Group Hears Talk By OEA President

Nyssans of Upsilon chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma entertained on the evening of Jan. 14 for members from Vale, Adrian and Ontario. They met at 8 o'clock in the high school library where they were served plate lunches by the local teachers.

Theme for the meeting was "Creativity in Art" and was carried out by a lovely display of handwork and paintings which had been done by Nyssa teachers and their pupils. Those who contributed pictures were the Misses Margery Nihart, Marie Coate, Nelle Hayes and a number of school children. The art program was further emphasized by an interesting talk on artists and their paintings by Mrs. Al Chadwick of Nyssa.

The program began with several vocal selections by Miss Linda Ballou, NHS junior, who accompanied herself on the guitar; and featured speaker was Mrs. Beulah Elliot of Klamath Falls.

Mrs. Elliot is president of Oregon Education association and a past president of Delta Kappa Gamma. During her talk, she mentioned her theme for this year's program, "Strengthening the E in OEA." She spoke optimistically of the fact that Oregon seems to have a "balance of age" among its teachers.

She explained the importance of this by saying that school districts need the wisdom and experience of older teachers and school board members as well as inspirational new ideas of the younger ones.

Mrs. Elliot stated that she was appalled to learn that in some areas of the country, school budget boards had no members over 30 years of age.

She complimented Oregon schools for providing programs for children who are "under-achievers" and said that she felt this valley was appropriately named as it is certainly filled with many treasures.

The speaker summarized her remarks by urging those present to set high goals and then added, "Let's not always conform, let's create."

Following Mrs. Elliot's talk, a fun auction was held during which various articles were sold to benefit the treasury. The items were furnished by members of the local chapter.

The meeting adjourned following a brief business session conducted by President Mrs. Frances Bates of Nyssa.
