

EASTER EGG HUNTS for the small fry seem to fit right in with the ever-increasing speed of the present space age. When a Journal photographer arrived Saturday at Nyssa south park, only minutes after the event was scheduled to start, the Jaycee-sponsored hunt was over and the kids were leaving the scene. Finders of lucky chocolate eggs were enroute to the various-named firms to claim their prizes. By jumping in the car, rushing back to the office and then to the nearby Merc store, the photographer was able to snap pictures of several prize winners. Tiny Mike Savage says "Thank You" as Bookkeeper Ruth McGinley hands him a cash prize. Other children in the upper photo can be identified with exception of the dark-haired lad nearly hidden from view. The others are (left to right) Beronica Elguezabal, Jeanie Jefferies, Larry Haney and his small brother, Kenny. Other prize winners in the photo on the right are Jeanean Smith and Matt Stringer. For a while Saturday morning the rains came and hopes for an egg search dimmed, but by 1 p.m. the weather had cleared and the hunt went on, under direction of Jaycee Chairman John Marsh.
