Nyssa-Adrian Area Churches Conduct Clothing Drive for Overseas Relief

A community-wide drive for used clothing for overseas relief is being conducted between now and May 9 by cooperating churches of Nyssa and Adrian, it is announced by the Rev. Ralph A. Lawrence, area clothing chairman for the Church World Service Clothing Appeal and president of the local Ministerial association.

Good, clean used clothing with at least six months' wear is requested and light summer wearing apparel is particularly needed, the Rev. Lawrence stated.

Clothing for Vietnamese children is urgently needed. These children, from infancy to adulthood, wear garments that resemble pajamas worn by American boys and girls. It is suggested that persons wishing to give this type of clothing either make or purchase sturdy cotton pajamas in sizes that would fit American children aged 2 to 10.

Men's work shoes, as well as children's and women's shoes, size 5 or larger, are needed. Women's shoes should not have open toes, high heels or be without backs.

Some Items Not Suitable

It is noted that certain items, such as handbags, heavy bedding, bathing suits, formal and hats, are not suitable for shipment to refugees or disaster victims.

Donations of cash are also needed and welcomed, the Rev. Lawrence said. It costs 10 cents per pound to process the clothing, prepare it for shipment and to pay for pier and wharfage charges.

Nyssa Methodist church is the collection depot, and all groups plan to take clothing bundles to this location for pick-up. The Church World Service truck from Vancouver, Wash., will be there during the week of May 9-13, and all persons taking clothing should have it delivered not later than May 9.

Further information may be secured from either the Rev. Lawrence or the Rev. Wallace Prowell.

Pastor John Milbrath Reports Acceptance Of Call to Lebanon

The Rev. John Milbrath announced last Sunday to his congregation at Faith Lutheran church that he had accepted a Letter of Call to become pastor of Our Savior's Lutheran church in Lebanon, Ore.

The call to Faith Lutheran was Pastor Milbrath's first in the ministry field and he has served the local church for the past four years. The Milbrath family plans to leave Nyssa following services on May 15.

DUAL SUNDAY SERVICES HELD AT LOCAL CHURCH

The Rev. Ralph Lawrence announces that two services of worship are being held each Sunday at Nyssa Methodist church for the convenience of congregation members.

Identical services, the first at 8:30 and the second at 11 o'clock will be held until further notice, the Rev. Lawrence stated.

Church school classes will continue to meet at the regular time of 9:45 a.m.

Student Speaker To Talk Sunday At Local Church

Miss Glenda Olson, a student at Northwest Christian college in Eugene, will be guest speaker during the 11 o'clock worship hour Sunday, April 24, at Nyssa Christian church, it is announced by Pastor Wallace Prowell. Miss Olson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Olson of Ontario.

Pastor Prowell reports that April 24 is designated as Christian Higher Education day in many different church fellowships and in Christian churches throughout the United States, this day is observed in some way. If a church college is nearby, a student or faculty member usually brings the morning message.

In the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and northern California, students and faculty of NCC in Eugene make the annual trek to speak in about 400 churches. These speakers present the needs and opportunities of the college and of church-related vocations.

Pastor Prowell and his congregation extend an invitation to area residents to attend Sunday worship services at the local Christian church.

Adrian Community Church News

President Frankie Worden was in charge of the business session during which it was announced that a fellowship meeting will be held May 6 in Nyssa, with luncheon to be served at 1 p.m.

Those attending are asked to take cancelled stamps and 25 health kits to be used by migrant children.

Mrs. Doris Rosenkilde read an article on the least coin at the Thursday meeting, and Mrs. Mable Piercy was in charge of the program. Mrs. Piercy and Mrs. Marie Moore presented a skit, "Temptation at the Breakfast

From This Corner...

By T. M. B.

The worst period of the year is over for most people—April 15—when income tax must be filed and partly paid. It's at this time when some of us who thought we had made a little money realized that our "Poor Old Uncle" was in much worse shape than we and must have his dues now... and if he didn't get it until a day late, was in a position to penalize us!

But in spite of an undeclared war—in spite of freezing weather that could damage crops considerably and destroy family fruit orchards, there is an air of optimism in our area. The downtown section of Nyssa has shown more improvement in the past year than in the previous six we have been here. It still continues to improve and seems to be catching like the measles.

Keith Remington's new car wash is awaiting warmer weather to complete the paving... the new parking malls will soon be complete... other Main street buildings are being renovated. (We'll carry pictures later.)

Even our neighboring paper, the Ontario Argus-Observer carried a picture of our new parking mall... The only thing was they did not say it was incomplete and might have given the impression that it will look a little crude. We won't be a city... but if we keep working at it and the city enforces its ordinance forcing property owners to clean up vacant lots—we'll be an attractive town!

Another thing that you must not under-estimate is the coming Thunderegg Days... The Burns paper was nice enough to recognize it in the editor's personal column and letters are coming in from various sources indicating an interest. If everyone gets behind it this first year, it can "snowball" and take care of itself. I fear that too many natives, like myself, who do not know anything about rock hunting, cannot conceive of its importance to a lot of people.

Let's get behind Harold Brendle, Lloyd Mackrill and Stan McNutt and see what they can do... I believe a lot of us will be surprised.

Hope all who possibly can will take advantage of Idaho Power's opportunity to show off the Hells Canyon dam and area this Sunday. As one who has seen it from the road and from the air (guest of the company last Friday), we think it will be worth your time.

The road is all paved, via Cambridge, and you not only will see the last of the power company's dams in the deepest gorge in North America, but you can see the area in greenery with nature's decorations of wild flowers.

Coloradoan Seeks Information on Nyssa

Nyssa Gate City Journal
Nyssa, Oregon

Gentlemen:
In your paper dated April 14, 1966, I note an article headlines "Travel Guide Lists Places of Interest in Nyssa Area." I think this is a book or pamphlet entitled "Oregon for the Curious." I would like to buy a copy of this and would be pleased if you could tell me where I can secure it and what the cost would be.

Also in the same issue, I see a picture about the Thunderegg. I would appreciate any information you can give me concerning these rocks; where they can be found in your area and if they can be purchased and what the cost would be.

Yours sincerely,
L. L. LYON

P.S. If my plans hold, I expect to come through your city during the forepart of September and would probably like to see some of these areas at that time.

(Editorial Note—In answer to Lyon's first question and for the benefit of other readers, "Oregon for the Curious," priced at $1.95, is issued by Pans Publishing company, 2845 N.E. 56th Avenue, Portland.)

Writer Disapproves Of Latest Fashions

Nyssa, Oregon
April 5, 1966
To the Journal Editor:

What a boon to the busy mother is the latest fashion noted in a Boise publication. I refer to the Mod Mode new-type of women's dress. Now, in the first place, it will take a surge of pressure to get those masculine-type pants off our women.

They love them and hasten to extol their many virtues over feminine clothing, such as freedom of movement. The higher you raise your brows during this recital, the more valuable the man-type clothing becomes; and if you have grey hair as I do, they end up consigning you to senile old age.

If a fat one comes along during this animated defense, they pretend not to see her; but should one of the tall meatless variety pass with the inevitable bare shanks and cotton anklets, they falter in the face of reality.

As one man so ably put it (a man not lost to sex appeal)—"The fat ones are ridiculous, but the lean ones are repulsive."

But hold, Mod Mode tells us there are still dresses being made. Frocks that possess strange qualities and I quote, "Those way above the knee, things zig-zagging in half a dozen colors or with holes cut in the strangest places."

So here is the boon to the busy mother—for certainly holes appear in the strangest places in the small fry's clothing. No more patching.

Little Mary will be right in style and the strange places in little Jimmie's pants may cause him some embarrassment, but style will prevail!

Just picture the dress manufacturers busy cutting holes in their new merchandise, giggling as they save material on the already short dresses, at no lower prices.

To have the ultra-modern look, ladies, go through your wardrobe, make your dresses a few inches shorter if your tummy permits—then nonchalantly cut a few holes here and there. It will be so easy, and so smart.

A. Schroeder Feels Qualified for Politics

Nyssa, Oregon
April 10, 1966

Dear Editor:

I have been harboring the idea of coming out as a candidate-at-large for the county judgeship. I should be well qualified, as I have been in court twice in my life.

I know nothing of or about law—that is, I have never read a law book; have never been noted for any successful judgment in financial matters. The two aspiring candidates for the judgeship who came out recently also did not make any statement, that I am aware of, as to law knowledge or training in such matters.

Also, I am not aware that even the U.S. Supreme court judges are required to be top authorities on law. So—I should be quite eligible to be a candidate for the judgeship.

But then again, it might be better to come out for some other political office. Few people have any confidence in our present politicians, bureaucrats and other public servants, so I should not be at too great a disadvantage in being elected.

Perhaps I do not have sufficient dignity. Okay, I have started to let them grow (my chin whiskers, that is) and by fall they should be of good proportions.

Yet again, I should reconsider, as I never could juggle figures too well.

So, I guess I had better just stay with my fishing, rocks and spreading the "bull" as usual.

Sincerely,
ADOLPH SCHROEDER

YOU ARE INVITED

Come See What We're Doing at HELLS CANYON on Sunday, April 24th—10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Bring a picnic lunch and make it a family outing. See exciting construction progress at the dam-site where the Snake River has been diverted around its natural channel by an 1,800-foot tunnel—where excavation to bed-rock has been accomplished—and where concrete is being poured for the massive dam and power-house.

It is ordinarily out of the question to admit visitors within the project area—there's too much construction activity in the limited space. On this special occasion (Sunday, the 24th), you can drive on the modern road to within two miles of the dam-site, then hop aboard a shuttle bus for the remaining distance.

After viewing the spectacular project with the assistance of guides, you will return to the parking area by bus and then proceed up-river to recreation and picnic areas—to McCormick Park below Brownlee Dam, to Woodhead Park on the back waters of Brownlee, or to the grounds near the Oxbow bridge—where there is elbow room for picnicking, also drinking water and rest-room facilities. The Boy Scouts and 4-H Girls will be vending hot dogs, cake, pop and coffee from a stand at the Oxbow Village.

Be sure to visit both the Oxbow and Brownlee power plants before you complete your tour, and inspect the salmon and steelhead hatchery below Oxbow. It will be interesting and educational for every member of the family.
