Use PCA Financing to increase profits on your farm or ranch

PCA loans make it possible for good farmers and ranchers to have modern machinery and materials that increase production and lower costs.

Loans for such major improvements allow you seven years to pay. Your payments are applied to the principal, reducing the balance subject to interest, thus lowering your total loan costs.

Other PCA loans provide operating capital. You receive a commitment for the entire year, but you pay no interest until you actually use the money, then only for the time you use it.

Let us show you why PCA agricultural loans give you lowest loan costs; and get your free copy of "Budgeting for Profit". No obligation, of course.

GROWTH AHEAD:

We're bringing more energy to a booming Pacific Northwest

There's a boom under way in the Pacific Northwest—and the need for energy for power, heat and light keeps climbing.

The number one priority of El Paso Natural Gas Company's Northwest Division, which serves customers throughout the Pacific Northwest, is to keep this energy flowing in full and ample quantities.

Last year, the Pacific Northwest used more natural gas than ever before. In fact, in 1965 our Northwest Division supplied the energy equivalent of more than twice the entire output of the vast Bonneville Power Administration.

To meet demand which has grown each year, we're constantly at work in developing reserves of gas and building new facilities to serve our customers. Since 1957, we have invested more than $105 million in our Northwest Division for construction of approximately 700 miles of pipelines and related facilities to move vital supplies of energy to our customers.

And, although tremendous quantities of gas are being consumed in the Pacific Northwest, the reserves of gas available for future use by the Northwest Division's customers are much greater today than they were eight years ago!

In recent weeks, we have completed a major acquisition of natural gas in Canada—an agreement providing for importation into the Pacific Northwest of up to 600 million additional cubic feet per day. This acquisition almost doubles the gas reserves of the Northwest Division, and gives it the largest reserves in relation to gas sales of any major pipeline operation in the country.

We're at work today on expansion of our facilities to receive this additional gas from Canada and to deliver it to our customers at today's low rates.

Details on El Paso Natural Gas Company's service to the Pacific Northwest, the Southwest and California are contained in our 1965 Annual Report. We'd like to send you a copy.
