VISITING ROCKHOUNDS from California, just trying to cool off in the area's unusual over 100-degree weather. They are Grant and Thelma Burris from McCloud. They told a local reporter that they had been in this area several times and had never known it to be so hot... well, neither had most Nyssans, and the Journal photographer proved it, wiping perspiration from the old brow. Coming from mountain country, near Mt. Shasta, this couple undoubtedly found this area's steamy-hot weather hard to take, despite the attraction of Nyssa's first annual Thunderegg Days. They said they have relatives in Boise, so perhaps they finally found an air-conditioned house, or perhaps remained in Nyssa until a Thursday evening breeze brought slightly cooler weather to the area.

NYSSAN RECEIVES DETAILED RESUME OF EUROPEAN TRIP

Mrs. Myrtle Raymond recently received a resume of a family trip taken through parts of Europe by her son-in-law and daughter, Master Sergeant Lewis E. and Pat Raymond Larkin and family, stationed at Evreux, France.

The article, covering descriptive details of a trek through portions of France, Spain, Monaco, Italy, Austria, Germany and Switzerland, is very cleverly written.

Due to length of the resume and lack of space, the Journal is unable to carry it in detail; however, the article has been returned to Mrs. Raymond who resides at 416 Ehrgood avenue in Nyssa.

The Journal publishers suggest that interested area residents call on her and ask to read the items which Mrs. Larkin has entitled "How Not to See Europe in 13 Days."
