RE-ELECT Ellis A. White MALHEUR COUNTY JUDGE

- EXPERIENCED • CAPABLE
- PROVEN

Six years' Experience as Judge of the Juvenile, Adoptive, Probate and Mentally Ill Courts . . .

Ellis White Knows the People — Our Economy — Our Problems . . . He Believes That the People of Malheur County Are Our Most Valuable Resource.

Qualifications for Judge of the Juvenile and Adoptive Courts —

Studied juvenile law, court procedure and prevention and treatment of youth problems at the University of Oregon. Credits in behavioral sciences.

Selected by the National Council of Juvenile Judges to attend the National Institute on "New Concepts in Personal Effectiveness of Judges Handling the Youthful Offender" in 1963 at the Alumni Center, University of California.

Six years' experience in hearings of more than 1300 boys and girls before the court. Ellis White has administered the court with impartiality, firmness and understanding. He believes the court is more than a court of punishment and works with both child and parent with full use of available resources to the end that the boy or girl become useful members of the community.

Ellis White has initiated the policy of publishing the names of second offenders and their parents; requires the youth to earn the money for repayment of damages; restricts social privileges to school and church functions—thus placing both on record to measure up or risk censure of the public and stricter measures by the court.

Under his direction the Malheur County Juvenile Court has cooperated with high schools in use of juvenile juries and it has become known as one of the better courts in Oregon with a low rate of second offenders.

The adoptive court hears approximately 60 proceedings a year. Making full use of the law and his broad knowledge and background, he requires complete background investigation of the child and adoptive home—a waiting period in the home before final adoption, protecting both the child being adopted and the adoptive parents.

Ellis White Has the Qualifications Necessary for Probate Judge —

He has studied probate law, using textbooks recommended by our local attorneys and has attended seminars sponsored by Chief Justice William H. McAllister. Within his first two years, more than 200 estates were brought to final hearing and closed or brought to a current basis.

Ellis White has cooperated with executors, administrators, guardians and their attorneys, heirs and creditors in prompt, efficient handling of estates. Here again his broad background and practical knowledge of Malheur County have been used in decisions, with the result that in no instance has a single decision or finding been appealed to a higher court.

Qualifications for the Mentally Ill Court —

Ellis White attended "in-training and workshops" at Eastern Oregon State Hospital, concerned with the mentally ill. The court hears more than 40 petitions each year.

As judge of the court, he has cooperated with the person before the court, family members and examining physicians, so that fears and tensions are held to a minimum with acceptance of treatment which contributes to early release.

Ellis White Has Administered the Juvenile, Adoptive, Probate and Mentally Ill Courts of Malheur County With Impartiality, Meaning and Purpose as a Valuable Service for All the People . . .
