MRS. WITT COLLECTS NEWS FOR KINGMAN KOLONY AREA

Mrs. Wilson Witt, rural correspondent for the Newell Heights area near Adrian, has been reporting some news items gathered from residents of the neighboring Kingman Kolony community.

According to community happenings, Mrs. Witt and the Journal staff are making every effort to keep the items separated. However, the Journal crew is handicapped by not knowing exact location of the various homes; so if error occurs, Mrs. Witt will undoubtedly not be the one to blame.

The publishers ask cooperation of Kingman Kolony residents in getting their items of reader-interest to Mrs. Witt. Her phone number is 372-2183.

The conference will be for instruction of subordinate and Pomona officers. All grangers are invited to attend and take instruction, as members are often called upon to fill the positions.

A resolution was read thanking the Boulevard Grange for its hospitality and the delicious dinner served at noon to 29 members from six grange organizations.

Next Pomona meeting will be in February, and all grangers are urged to attend.

State Deputy Talks On Future of Grange

Oregon Trail Grange members met in regular session last Thursday evening, Nov. 17, with Master Don Somers presiding.

State Deputy Robert Coble was escorted to the master's station. In his talk he stated that by 1976 only 3 percent of the nation's population will be directly connected with agriculture and that the grange will need members who are indirectly connected.

Frank Parr's name was called for the attendance award and he missed receiving $5.

Master Somers declared a recess while he showed a film on possible improvements of living conditions within the next 10 years.

Twenty-four members were served sandwiches and coffee by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sisson.
