TVCC Charges Continue

It was our intention to write this editorial saying the people had decided how they wished to handle the TVCC financial problems. And that this being the American Democratic means, we should all accept the decision and hope the board would profit from previous mistakes.

But late Tuesday afternoon we received a letter asking that we please not stop asking questions. The writer said problems were not nearly solved and that due to the shake-up some had increased.

The writer gave specifics, named names, and spoke disparagingly of some staff members, faculty and some members of the board.

But there were two big problems that restrained us from using it--(1) It bore no personal signature, (2) some of the unproven statements were of a personal nature. Where the signature should have been were the typed words, "A Furious Faculty Member."

Our first thought was that if there was a shred of truth in any of it why didn't the writer have "guts" enough to sign it. Our second one was why hasn't he made this available to the board.

We haven't come up with an answer to the second but can see that, with his economic interest foremost, he might lose his job. (Even newspaper editors frequently fail to take a definite stand on issues where the pocket-book is affected!)

So, we have done the only thing we knew to do that might not cause irreparable harm to innocent people. We have taken the letter to Grant Rinehart, ex-chairman of the board, for him to read. If he and other board members feel there is any truth in the accusations they can act accordingly.

We have not been opposed to the college but have been violently against the method of operation. We hope the new procedures will make a drastic change in this field.

Thank You!

We, the children of the late Warren and Wilda Farmer, take this opportunity to thank all our friends for the many kindnesses extended to us during the past few months. We shall look forward to our visits at home.

(The Farmer family left Wednesday for Salt Lake City. Their address is 2785 Comanche Drive.)

LETTER To the Editor

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Brammer
The Gate City Journal
Nyssa, Oregon

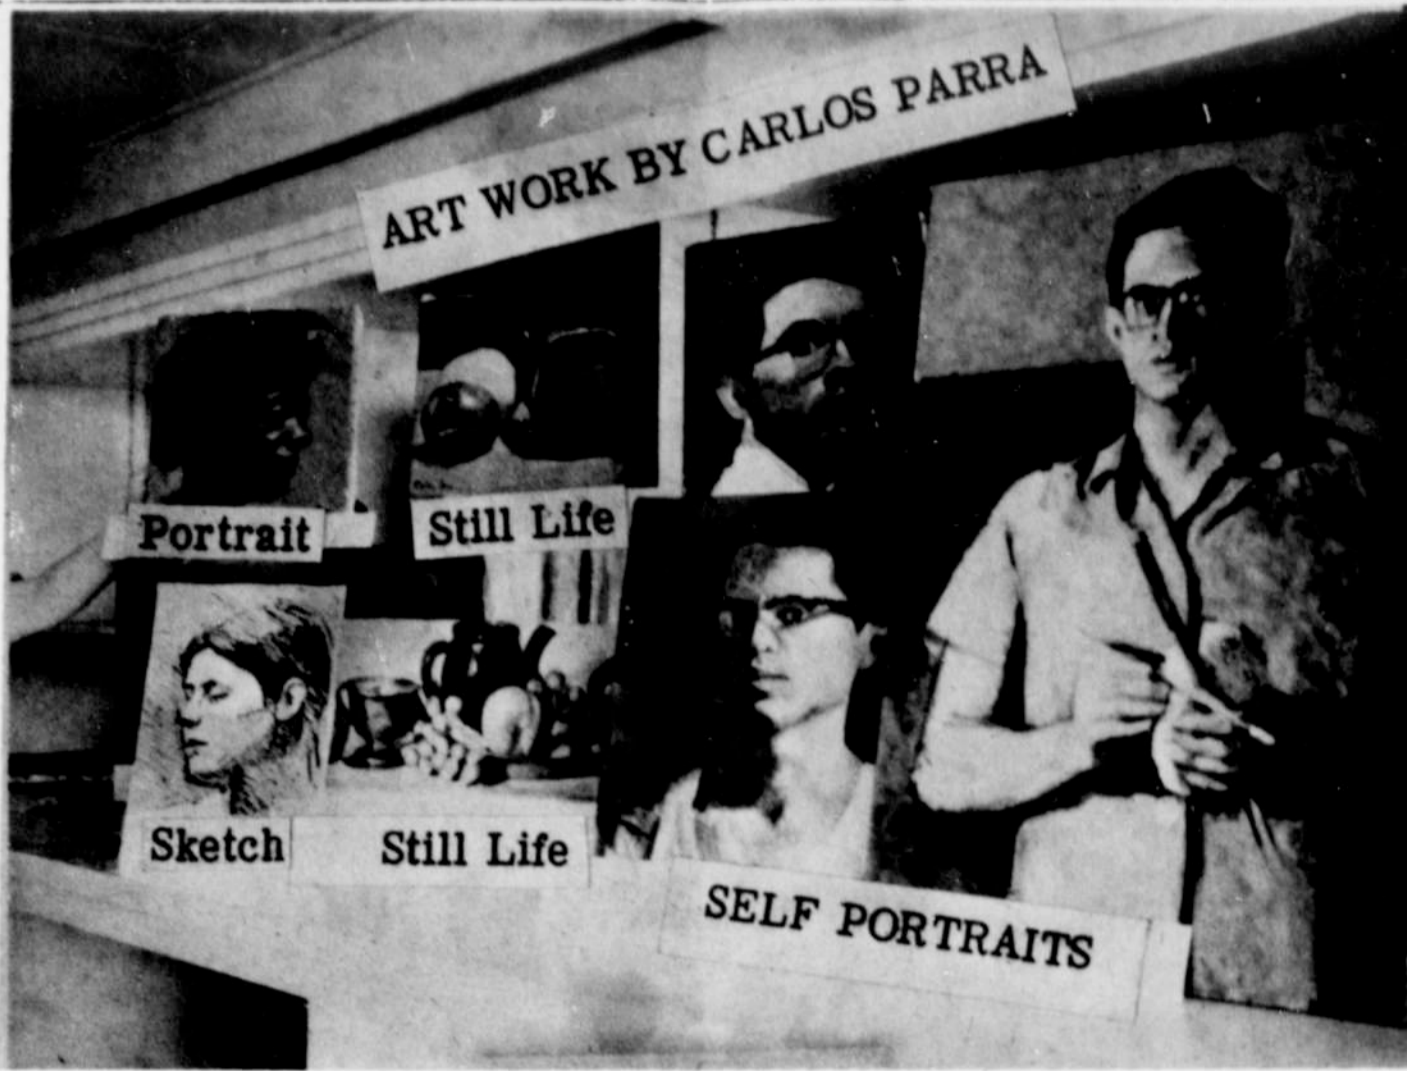

Dear Ted and Arlene,

With school fast drawing to a close, I do want to express our sincere appreciation for the excellent cooperation and assistance you have given us in carrying the guidelines of our guidance program to the public.

We feel that we made exceptionally good headway in selling our various publics (patrons, students, and faculty) on the importance of guidance services in our school system. To that extent, we feel we owe a debt of gratitude to you and your newspaper staff for the fine play you have given our program.

Thanks again for a job well done.

Sincerely,
Charles Quinowski

ART WORK BY CARLOS PARRA sent to Nyssa friends and relatives in appreciation for their interest and financial help with his studies in New York. On the upper-left is a small portrait of a girl -- a study of a live model, and under it is a tempera sketch of a live model. This sketch-work assignment was made because the young artist had some difficulty in finding lines he needed while painting heads of live models. This sketch took about 30 minutes. The smaller of the two still-life paintings was assigned for more extended learning and is a gift to Nyssa Mrs. Virginia Brandt, Carlos' very first art instructor and the one probably most responsible for getting him started on his art career. The larger still life, painted in the young artist's apartment, is an appreciation gift to members of the Eagles auxiliary for their financial support. The two small self-portraits were painted from Parra's reflection in a mirror. They are gifts to his parents. This work was done to learn values of light and shadow, intensity of color and composition -- all to be expressed by strokes of the bursh. About the large self-portrait, a gift to Mrs. Brandt, Carlos' has this to say, "I am doing a large portrait study of myself with the help of a mirror. The way it is turning out, it appears that it will be the best work I have ever done. To my eye -- the composition is very good, draftsmanship and color are better, too, than most of my work. I love school very much, but I must explain that I really have two schools. One is at the Art Students' League and the other is at home. I have to study harder at home than at school as there are no fellow students working with me to give encouragement. I find that determination to paint, learning to paint must come from within oneself." -- Journal Photo.
