Upon receiving a telephone call from Betty Wilt at the city hall, the Journal camera was taken to the lawn behind the municipal building last Friday afternoon where a Canadian goose sat in the grass cooling itself under one of the sprinklers. At first, the bird ignored the camera, probably because the photographer called it a "duck." However, after a few minutes, a different angle and the remark "come on goose, turn around and pose," the big bird turned as if to say, "If you insist — this is my best side." The "honker" was found by a member of the city crew near the Snake river park, and it was decided that it probably had a crippled leg and was unable to move under its own power. After a call to the Game Commission, Police Chief Alvin Allen planned to take the goose to a nearby pond, but suddenly it disappeared. Perhaps with proper nourishment and a few days of relaxing, it decided to join the "wild goose gang" with whom it really belongs.

Visit Corey Couple In Appreciation

Hugh Ritter of Anacortes, Wash., left July 12, after spending some time in his trailer house, parked on the Maurice Corey place. The visitor and Corey did some rock hunting while Ritter was in this area.

Arriving at the Corey home, also on July 12, were longtime friends, Mr. and Mrs. LaMont Tiffany of Thompsonville, Mich. They spent the weekend in Olympia, Wash., and are now spending more time with Mr. and Mrs. Corey.

While in Idaho the Nyssa couple and Mrs. Flowers and her son David, took a fishing trip to Sun Valley. They report a fine catch.

We, members of the family of Walter H. Pinkston wish to express our deepest appreciation to all our friends for their understanding sympathy, lovely flowers and cards at the time of his illness and following the death of our loved one.

We also express our sincere thanks to the entire staff at Malheur Memorial hospital, Drs. K. E. Kerby and K. A. Danford for their excellent care and many kindnesses. — Mrs. Edith Pinkston, Mrs. Violet McKee, Mrs. Ruth Sant, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Pinkston, Mrs. Laura Smith.
