

My Neighbors

The golfer stepped up to the tee and drove off. The ball sailed down the fairway, leaped onto the green and rolled into club in the air with excitement. "What have you suddenly gone crazy about?" asked his wife, who was trying learn something about the game. "Why, I just did a hole in one," yelled the golfer, a wild gleam of delight in his eyes. "Did you?" asked his wife placidly. "Do it again, dear, I didn't see you."

A man full of excitement phoned the fire department. "Fire! Fire!" "Where is it?" "My house!" "I mean the location of the fire." "My kitchen!" "Yes, but how can we get to your place?" "You've got a fire engine, haven't you?" "Plastic surgeons can do almost anything to the nose except keep it out of other people's business."

BATS IN OUR BELLY

The fellow was a regular customer at the restaurant and the management tried to please him. So when he complained that only one piece of bread was served with his meal, the waiter brought four slices the next evening.

"Better!" said the man, "but not enough. I like bread." The next evening the waiter brought a full dozen pieces. "Better yet," said the man, "but why skimp? I like lots of bread."

A basketful of slices the next day failed to stop the complaints.

"We'll fix him," the manager told the waiter, and ordered a gigantic loaf specially baked—six feet long and thick as a barrel. When the man came in for dinner the waiter lugged in the huge loaf, uncut, dropped it on the table, and waited hopefully for comment.

The customer glared at the loaf, then said in bitter, resigned tones: "Well! I see we're back to one piece again!"

Did You Know?

Following are the results of a survey conducted by a psychology class at a large university:

If you live to be 70 or over, chances are that you will spend at least 20 years asleep. Two hours of your life will be taken signing the pay checks for the 20 solid years of work you will do. Golf, bowling, hiking, or dominoes will probably take up some of the seven years you will allow for sports of all kinds. For five years you will shave, and dress, and five months will be spent in tying your shoes.

For seven years you will go to movies, theatre, fights or other amusements. Another year will be spent on the telephone. For two and one-half years you will sit at a table eating, and for another two and one-half years you will smoke or chew gum. The 70 year span includes three years of waiting and 30 years annually looking into mirrors and, just for the record, you are allowed four hours each year for wiping your nose.
