Schools must make every dollar count.

In the 67 communities served by Cascade Natural Gas in Washington and Oregon, 192 schools are heated with gas. Isn't that revealing? Schools, as you know so well, are beset with many financial problems these days. Too many students to serve with too little money. Every dollar is dear. So schools use the fuel for heating that offers the ultimate in efficiency at lowest cost. It's natural gas, of course. Can 192 school administrators be wrong? We don't think so, and neither do you. This ad couldn't end without our remarking that if natural gas is good enough for your children, it's good enough for YOU! We recommend it highly for your home.

Don't fear costs. Conversions are quite inexpensive. Fact is, they cost only 'peanuts'. Let the Cascade Man give you an estimate. No obligation, except yours to your own comfort.

Your warmest friend is natural gas
