University Women Hear Mental Health Program

Members of the Ontario branch of the American Association of University Women heard a discussion on mental health and the Malheur county mental health clinic by Dr. Joseph Burdic at their Oct. 9 meeting.

Dr. Burdic, who was a general practitioner in Ontario for ten years prior to leaving for education in psychiatry, told the group that psychiatrists in private practice and mental health clinics are only a part of the therapy picture. Doctors, ministers and friends, over a cup of coffee, also provide needed therapy.

He told the group of about 40 members that there are now some 20 mental health clinics in Oregon. Harney county has one and clinics are being set up on a limited basis in Union and Baker counties.

The speaker said they were watching with interest, the development of a mental health complex in Nampa. There they will have a psychiatrist approximately nine hours per week, a psychologist part-time and full-time psychiatric social workers. These social workers will be assigned to various communities.

Dr. Burdic says he thinks something on this order might be implemented in eastern Oregon counties of Harney, Malheur and Baker.

He told the group that he would like to see more use of group therapy to treat mental illness. He feels that this has been very successful and gives the patient an opportunity to learn that it is relationship with other persons which causes his problems. The speaker also told the group that mental and physical illnesses are very closely related. He hopes that the public eventually gets over the feeling that having problems is sinful.

Dr. Burdic suggested to parents, three points they can use to teach their child to help him to be more able to adjust and live with his fellow man. He said to give children a sense of worthwhileness, they should be taught values and judgement; and to learn that they can make mistakes.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Steve Besse, scholarship committee chairman, Mrs. Vernon Pound announced that Vera Black was selected to receive the group's scholarship to TVCC, with Rosa Romera selected as alternate.

Both girls are from Ontario. Proceeds from the spring tasting luncheon are used to provide the $240 scholarship.

Study groups were organized, and the book review committee will meet at 8 p.m. each third Thursday. Members interested in forming a morning book review session are ask to contact Mrs. Besse. Mrs. Joe Komoto is spearheading the formation of an arts and crafts study group.

Hostesses for the recent dinner-meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Donald Oaks, were Mmes. E. N. Hoffman, Jack Seeter, Frank Magrini, Cliff Merikawa, Edgar Sheldon and Gloria Beets.

Fall fertilization with anhydrous ammonia is as easy as:

ONE! Your nearby United States Steel Farm Service Center has the finest anhydrous ammonia and equipment available for application this fall. They are ready to apply the anhydrous ammonia this fall when soil moisture and physical conditions are optimum for application, and you'll beat the spring fertilizer rush. Anhydrous ammonia tanks are weighed in the field before and after application — you pay for only what you use.

TWO! Anhydrous ammonia applied in the fall when temperatures are below 50°F remains in the non-leaching ammonium form all winter. It immediately starts decomposing residues and releasing other plant food. The trained experts at your USS Farm Service Center can tell you when the best time will be to apply the anhydrous ammonia for maximum results and benefits.

THREE! The ammonium ion of nitrogen is readily available to growing crops the following year. Some plants actually prefer the ammonium form of nitrogen. When soil temperatures rise to 60-70°F or higher, bacteria converts ammonium to fast acting nitrate nitrogen — readily available to plants. This conversion of ammonium to nitrate acidifies the soil and results in increased availability of many essential nutrients. Plants need large amounts of nitrogen during the early periods of growth and anhydrous ammonia applied in the fall provides exactly that. You're on your way to greater yields and profits. Your USS Farm Service Center can advise you on proper soil fertility practices for your area. Stop in today and let the Soil Fertility Specialists show you how fall fertilization with anhydrous ammonia is as easy as one, two, three!
