HUNGER CATAclysm THREATENS WORLD; CHURCHES MUST ACT

The affluent nations have about twelve years left to ward off a world hunger cataclysm, according to James MacCracken, executive director of Church World Service.

Church World Service has passed its twentieth year of service to overseas needy. During that time the big service agency has distributed more than four billion pounds of foods to people in need overseas and has spent approximately $100,000,000 in Asia, Africa, Latin America and parts of Europe.

The head of the church relief and rehabilitation agency made his statement on the eve of its annual One Great Hour of Sharing offering which occurs each year on the fourth Sunday of Lent. In 1968 it will take place in some 94,000 Protestant and Orthodox churches in this country on March 24.

This year in its One Great Hour of Sharing appeal, Church World Service expects to garner approximately $17,500,000 through the denominations which support its efforts. Virtually all the large Protestant denominations use Church World Service to channel goods and funds overseas to assist those in need.

Members of the Malheur county P.T.A. council will meet March 28 at 8 p.m. in the school at Willowcreek.

Wrote William Sidney Porter, in 1909: "You can't appreciate home till you've left it, money till its spent, your wife till she's joined a women's club, nor Old Glory till you see it hanging on a broomstick on the shanty of a consul in a foreign town."

Student's Letter On America Sent To Pres. Johnson

VERA AMMONS

During a study of patriotism by Mrs. Anna Long's fifth grade pupils at the Adrian elementary school, Vera Ammons, 10, wrote on "America is My Home"

She sent a copy to President Johnson, and last week received a letter from the President and pamphlet telling about the White House and the first family. Here is her letter.

'AMERICA IS MY HOME'

America is my home and never will I leave, for I love America.

One reason why I love it is because people in America have freedom. There are millions of reasons why I love America so, but I'll just name a few. Another reason why I love America is that the people in America are kind and helpful.

Another reason is because men in America go to war just to keep us and our country free. And still another reason is that if you think hard enough you could name things that America has done for you. And as we grow up let us help our country. - Vera Ammons.

Even if you are on the right track, you will get run over if you just sit there.

DEMAND AND SUPPLY

The law of supply and demand is known to every American. School children learn it in the early grades in school. It states as an economic principle that if demand exceeds supply, prices rise, thus discouraging demand and enabling the supply to meet demand -- and vice versa.

But recently, a new law called demand and supply has come to be almost as inexorable as the old law of supply and demand. This new law of demand and supply is a tool of pressure groups and it seems to have a special appeal to public officials. The pressure groups demand, and the politicians supply. All established laws of economics are abandoned or circumvented to supply the demands.

Welfare recipients demand increases; politicians supply the increases.

Friendly nations demand foreign aid; politicians supply foreign aid.

Government employees demand pay increases; politicians supply pay increases.

Poverty pockets demand largesse; politicians supply largesse.

Social Security recipients demand increases; politicians supply the increases.

The list is endless. Demand and supply has been a paramount law of political life for 35 years now.

But the law of supply and demand is beginning to make itself felt again, because the supply of money to meet the demands is running out. The taxpayer who replenishes the public treasury is rapidly approaching dehydration. It's revealed, for example, that in the week ending on January 25, commercial and industrial business failures climbed to 216, a rise from 176 for the preceding week.

Manufacturing failures rose from 34 to 43; retailing from 74 to 85; construction failures from 28 to 42, and service business failures from 17 to 25. The tax burdens on business -- and you may substitute the word "employers" for the word business -- are taking a heavy toll.

Somehow we think that the law of supply and demand will outlive the law of demand and supply. - U.S. Press Association.

Vorlex IS BEST FOR POTATOES and Vorlex users are the first to say so.

"Row fumigation with Vorlex at 5 gallons per acre produced 100 sacks of potatoes per acre more than the untreated area. This is the highest yield I've ever produced (592CWT/A). And, the percentage of #1 potatoes was greatly increased. Where I didn't Vorlex fumigate I lost the potatoes due to nematode infection."

Kenneth Tamura Wilder, Idaho

"Although 1967 was a year that produced some unusually poor potato crops in our area, we feel our 1967 potato yield and quality was substantially increased by our fumigating with Vorlex at 2½ gallons per acre. We were certainly pleased with the results."

Robert S. Skyles White Sage Farms, Inc.

Vorlex - THE COMPLETE SOIL FUMIGANT

potatoes. Vorlex is easy to apply—either row or overall treatment—even at low soil temperature.

So for that extra measure of profit, use the complete soil fumigant—Vorlex.
