WORK SMARTER - NOT HARDER

BEAT THE HEAT WITH SMART PLANNING. You use more energy while working in the heat of the day, so why not make use of morning and evening hours to cook food. Then, store it in refrigerator or freezer for reheating at meal time.

Cook outdoors or have a picnic with paper service to save dishwashing.

Do hand laundry in cool water with cool water detergent.

When you have a moment to relax, use an ice pack or cloth wrung out of cold water on arms and legs as well as your forehead.

ARE YOU ON THE MOVE?

Mrs. Roberta Frasier, Oregon State University Extension family life specialist, calls attention to the fact that moving takes adjustment on the part of everyone, including the children. Too much uncertainty and breaking of old ties can be disquieting.

To help in making adjustments, remember that your children need and want to know about their new home. Show them some pictures of the new house, neighborhood, school or other places of interest.

Be sure all school records are sent to the new school well in advance. In the hustle of packing and later unpacking, children need attention and a chance to voice their concerns. Take time to show them around the new neighborhood. Remember the only familiar part to the children is the family.
