ADULT FICTION

VEIN OF IRON by Ellen Glasgow. Widely praised as the finest work of a distinguished career, this rich novel of human nature takes place in the historic Great Valley of Virginia. It's theme - the will to live the integrity and fortitude which draws generations together, the vein of iron in all men.

COLOR FROM A LIGHT WITHIN by Donald Braider. Based on the life of El Greco.

RATH INTO THE UNKNOWN printed by Delacorte press/New York. The best of Soviet science fiction.

THE OUTCASTS by Stephen Becker. May make some readers think of Conrad, some of Hemingway, some of Malraux. To those who have read Stephen Becker's previous books, it may seem that a quiet and brilliant growing writer has written his best book yet.

HURRY SUNDOWN by K. B. Gilden. A tumultuous novel of passion and pride.

THE MAN WHOSE NAME WOULDN'T FIT by Theodore Tyler. This funny, entertaining, suspenseful, imaginative book is pure fiction -- unless, perhaps, you happen to work for a company considering a new computer to handle its payroll and you have an overly long last name.

THE MASTER AND MARGARITA by Mikhail Bulgakov. The most talked-about literary work in Russia today.

Big Game Hunter 1968 Rule Books Sent To Dealers

Big game hunters are advised by the Game Commission that copies of the 1968 rule book will be available at license dealers throughout the state on or before the middle of this coming week. Shipments are being made to license dealers now, with this important job expected to be completed by that time. Since shipments are made alphabetically by counties, some dealers will receive copies of the rule book a few days earlier than others.

As was the case last year, the regulations are printed in booklet form with complete index. This convenience should make it easier for hunters to find specific big game seasons as well as other information.

Hunters are reminded that the rule book does not contain the unit map except in small scale. The unit map is printed separate from the booklet on a large fold-out and is also available at license dealers. Hunters should request the game management unit map when they obtain copies of the regulation booklet.

Hunters are urged to check carefully all general regulations including arms and ammunition, tagging and possession requirements, prohibited methods, filing rules and procedures, and other regulations of this nature.

The hunting seasons are printed in order in the booklet beginning with the general deer season, controlled and extended hunts, elk, antelope, bighorn sheep and mountain goats, bear, and ending with the archery seasons. General regulations follow, and the final page provides hunters with information on license and tag fees.
