The Caldwell Optimist Club has arranged for all boys and girls through the age of 16 years to be guests of the Caldwell Optimist Club and the Caldwell Cubs when the Cubs play Twin Falls in a single game at Simplot Stadium which will start at 7:30 P.M. August 14, 1968.

A ten cent stadium use tax is the only admission that will be charged the youth. The adult admission of one dollar will remain in effect.

The Caldwell Optimists hope that this affair will be so well

Thank you in advance for your cooperation in this instance of youth work within the Caldwell Optimist Club. - Sincerely, Elmer Jaques, Optimist Club President.

THANK YOU!

Yerington, Nevada August 2, 1968

Editor Nyssa Newspaper Nyssa, Oregon

Dear Sir,

May we take this means to thank and express our gratitude and appreciation to members of your community for the many acts of kindness and concern for the Kouns family following their accident and during their convalescence.

Ruth and Bill have told us of all the care, thoughtfulness, and concern that has been shown them. We knew they had many, many friends and that they would see to the family's needs. It is this kind of compassion for one another in times of need that makes us realize how fortunate we are.

Of course, we feel that a guardian angel was with them that day and we thank God for sparing them to us.

God bless each one of you. - Sincerely, Mother, Brother, and Sister of Ruth Kouns.

"MR. HUMPHREY, RETURN THE MONEY!"

Vice-President Hubert Humphrey should immediately return the $50,000 donated to his race by the Seafarers International Union. The national Democratic Party should also forthwith return a like amount from the same union. Why? Because the money smells.

Signs indicate that the money was given after Secretary of State Dean Rusk refused to extradite to Canada Harold Banks, former head of the union's Canadian branch, who fled to the United States to avoid serving a five-year term for the rank offense of hiring strong-arm gangsters to beat up a rival union leader.

Although many (and with much reason) deem the Rusk decision to have been a serious mistake, no one implies any improper financial motivation on the Secretary's part. Nor is it suggested that the Vice-President is in any way implicated in anything improper. Whether figures in the Democratic Party sought to capitalize on the State Department's decision is another matter.

But, notwithstanding all this, a sense of propriety and fitness categorically requires that this $100,000 be returned. The American people do not want their leaders or their parties to be helped by money from organizations which have in their ranks persons such as Harold Banks. The United States should watch to see if Mr. Humphrey and the Democrats show a becoming sense of obligation in this matter.

This is a year of great political discontent and suspicion in the United States. Large groups of voters are more or less "alienated." There is widespread feeling among youth that their elders have set a pretty shabby political example. This belief would only grow deeper were the Vice-President and the Democratic Party to accept monies from unworthy sources. It would be not only morally right but politically wise for Mr. Humphrey and the Democrats to rid themselves of this $100,000. - (Christian Science Monitor.)

Government By Decree

One possible explanation for the people's deepening sense of frustration is their realization that the federal government increasingly is falling into the hands of persons not touched by the elective process and therefore not responsive to it.

The people now are governed not so much by enacted statutes as by directives and regulations flowing in ever-widening torrents from federal administrative agencies operating under broad grants of authority conferred on them by Congress.

Government by decree has reached a point at which a complete turnover of elected officials, including Congress and the White House, doesn't necessarily entail a significant change in the federal government's direction.

To borrow the words of Rep. James Utt of California, "you are governed more and more by people for whom you have never voted, for whom you never will vote, whom you have never seen and whom you cannot recall by your vote."

Government by administrative decree is nothing new, of course. It began to evolve almost as soon as Congress started enacting laws that called for federal supervision and enforcement. Its explosive growth began with the massive federal interventions of the New Deal era. But it has taken a particularly sinister turn lately with the increasing use of federal tax money to bribe or bull-doze the states and localities into acceptance of the sociological "reforms" favored by the central bureaucrats. Money is power, and the federal taxing power threatens to become the vehicle for the central government's ultimate detailed direction of the entire economy. - Daily Oklahoman
