

RAIN, WIND and CREPE PAPER just don't go together! When the Greig brothers started out in the Saturday Back-To-School parade, their train was a 'snappy' looking unit, but by the time the choo-choo arrived at Nyssa south park and when this photo was snapped, it got a little droopy. The lads are (l to r) John, Jim, Mark and David Greig, sons of Mrs. Iona Greig. Mark wasn't in the parade as a member of the railroad crew, but he designed and built the unit. They were first-place $5 winners in the 'soap box' division of the parade. Margery Sells was $3 second-place winner, with Sara Marcum taking the $2 third-place award. - Journal Photo.

SEWARDS ANNOUNCE OPEN HOUSE EVENT

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Seward and Gary of the Apple Valley area are holding open house Friday, August 23 from 2 to 5 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m. The occasion is the 25th anniversary of the building of their first home. Completion of remodeling work was recently accomplished. All members of the Seward family will be present to greet neighbors and other friends. Everyone is invited to stop, at least for several minutes of conversation and refreshments. A REALLY UNIQUE ENTRY, "MR. POTATO HEAD" as was seen in the 1968 Nyssa Back-To-School parade. This is Wayne Ulrey, whose head (in this case) is really his tummy and ribs. His actual head and real arms (sticking straight up) are under the mop of hair and top hat. Wayne received the first-place $5 award in the 'costume' division of the parade. Second-place $3 winner was Marian Kunkel, with the third-place $2 award going to Landon Lane.
